Hitler Places Control Of Nation In Trusted Hands

NAZI STORM TROOPS WILL BE REMADE GOVERNMENT RENOVIZE DRIVE TO BE OPERATING THIS FALL

Voluntary Labor Service Placed Under Control of New Chieftain Today

RUMORS ARE DENIED

Chancellor Seeks to Retrain Party Hot Heads From Attacking Jews

BERLIN, July 7.—(UP)—A far reaching rearrangement of duties and powers of Nazi leaders to center control in a few trusted men, was revealed today as the first aim of Chancellor Adolf Hitler in the second phase of his "third reich."

An important under-the-surface indication was that the Nazis sought a period of peace and quiet during which Hitler and his aides would do their utmost to keep the party hot heads from attacking Jews or other factions except the communists.

All the storm troops are under Viktor Lutze, successor of Ernst Roehm, alleged leader of the revolt that precipitated Germany's bloody week of reprisals.

Kurt Schmitt, minister of economics, has been given dictatorial powers over labor and industry.

Controls Labor

Today Constantin Hierl was given complete control of the important voluntary labor service, which keeps scores of thousands of young men out of possible trouble in the ranks of the unemployed.

This takes the labor army from the jurisdiction of Franz Seidler, minister of labor and leader of the Steel Helmet organization of war veterans which incurred Roehm's wrath by refusing to be absorbed into his storm troops.

Seidler received assurance from Storm Troop Leader Lutze that there would be no more attacks on his war veterans and that he would do his utmost to see that there was co-operation without friction in future.

Lutze, in an interview which appeared in the Nazi party's official organ, Der Angriff, constituted a formal announcement, said reorganization of the storm troops was absolutely essential.

It was known, of course, that Lutze would reorganize the troops. His statement apparently was intended primarily for the storm troops themselves.

Praises Troopers

He praised the "simple, unknown troopers who never would have joined the plot of a few leaders."

He was unable to give details of the proposed reorganization but said reorganization must and would be effected because it was absolutely essential.

Kurt Daluege, new leader of the Berlin-Brandenburg storm troop division, already has been organizing the five "super groups" under his command.

The storm troop part of the reorganization brought to the surface again some of the host of unverified and unverified rumors dating back to a week ago today when the Roehm revolt was announced.

One of these was that when Hitler made his raid on Roehm and other suspected leaders at the Wiesse Spa outside of Munich Edmund Heines, a once-trusted leader, tried to fire at him and was stopped only by a bullet from the pistol of one of Hitler's aides.

This story was scouted among well informed people. No one was in position to know except members of Hitler's raiding party, all pledged to secrecy, because those raided are dead.

Figures In Editorial Are Corrected

The editorial of yesterday on the Santa Ana council, referring to the overthrowing of one of the former city council, declared:

FOUR PROPOSED AMENDMENTS ARE OUTLINED

Measures Designed as Aid to Law Enforcement and Drive on Crime

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 7.—(UP)—Four proposed initiative constitutional amendments, designed as an aid to law enforcement and the drive against crime, have been outlined by the California Committee on Better Administration of Law.

The amendments—if their sponsors obtain the necessary signatures—will add to the growing list of initiative measures which will appear on the November ballot.

They propose to make more stringent the selection of judges, increase the scope of the attorney general's office, permit judges and district attorneys to comment upon the failure of a defendant to testify, and permit a defendant to plead as to his guilt before a committing magistrate.

Objects of the amendments would be to speed court procedure and eliminate as much as possible politics from the courtroom.

Under terms of the proposals justices of the supreme court district courts of appeal and superior courts would be required to file declarations of candidacy within 30 days before the 16th day of August next preceding the expiration of his term.

In the event of a vacancy, the governor could appoint a successor only upon approval of a majority of three officials—chief justice of the supreme court, presiding justice of the appellate court, and the attorney general.

Powers of the attorney general would be broadened to bring about uniform enforcement of law throughout the state. He would

VETERAN ACTORS OF SCREEN ARE CALLED

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—The ranks of the veteran motion picture actors were reduced by two today as old-timers of the screen mourned the deaths of Alec R. Francis, 45, character actor, and Harry Pollard, 53, pioneer actor and director.

Francis died in Hollywood hospital after an emergency operation climaxing a three-day illness. His widow, Mrs. Lucy Francis, was at his side.

His most recent picture was "The Green Hat," in which Constance Bennett and Herbert Marshall had leading roles.

Pollard, like Francis, was a pioneer in film work and also remained active almost until his death.

He was born in Republic City, Kansas, in 1879. Two brothers, Horace Pollard of Fresno, and W. H. Pollard of Oakland, and a sister, Mrs. W. H. Lane of Oakland, survive him.

CALIFORNIA TOWN IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

SONORA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—Fire which started in a woodshed destroyed half the town of Sonora, a small lumber camp near here, according to reports of state forestry officials who returned from helping direct the fighting of flames.

Two companies of C. C. C. youths joined Standard business men and other residents in attempting to check flames which destroyed 29 frame buildings and eight automobiles before spreading into the forest. The houses were owned by a lumber company.

Fire in the town was controlled by nightfall, but continued advancing in the forest during the night.

NEW CABINET IN JAPAN IS NAMED TODAY

TOKYO, July 7.—(UP)—Japan's "big navy" premier, Kieseuke Okada, tentatively completed selection of his cabinet today.

The new government succeeded that of Viscount Makoda Saito, which resigned ostensibly because of a financial scandal involving one of its subordinates. Failure to heed demands of militarist factions, however, was understood to be the unofficial cause of the fall of Saito's "super party" cabinet.

In his cabinet Admiral Okada retained many of the more important members of the deposed Saito government. They included minister of war, navy, foreign affairs, and home affairs.

Admiral Okada will assume the post of overseas minister as well as the premiership. However, it was understood the overseas ministry soon would be abolished partly due to restriction of immigration to Brazil.

Other tentative selections follow: Foreign minister—K. Hirota, who held the same post in Saito cabinet.

Navy—Admiral Mineo Osumi, also a Saito minister.

War—General Senjuro Hayashi, Saito cabinet member.

Justice—Naoshi Obara, former chief justice Japanese appeal courts.

KATHERINE HEPBURN GETS NEW CONTRACT

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—Katherine Hepburn, sensational socialite film star, today looked forward to a profitable and definite future on the screen as a result of a contract which will bring her $50,000 a production for six pictures in the next two years.

"The Little Minister" probably will be her first production under the new contract. "The Forsyte Saga" will follow, and possibly "Joan of Arc." She remains with the same studio that has been producing her current pictures.

Effective Stand For Taxpayers

We want to thank the public of Santa Ana for the many expressions of approval which have come to us, by telephone, personal call, and by letter, commending our editorial last night against private organizations receiving donations from public tax money.

It is gratifying to know that the real, substantial taxpayers of Santa Ana are with us in our position that tax money, forced from the people, shall not be handed over for use by any private group.

But we would emphasize the fact that taxpayers can take a more effective stand in their own behalf by talking to the city councilmen than to us. They have the power to spend city tax money and they are the ones who should understand clearly the taxpayers' wishes.

Call up, or talk to Mr. LeGaye, as we have done, and congratulate him on his contention in behalf of taxpayers that tax money should be used only for necessary public business. He will be glad to hear from you and know that he has the backing of the people.

Also, talk to the other four councilmen, Messrs. Warner, Penn, Bruns, and Rowland, and let them know how you, as a taxpayer, feel about raids on the treasury by organized minorities, and that you will support them in passage of the resolution presented by Mr. LeGaye which comes up for action Monday night.

Home Owner Loans Soon Available

James A. Moffett Arrives in Washington and Opens Headquarters

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—James A. Moffett, former Standard Oil company executive, arrived here today, planning to put 5,000,000 men to work as part of the government's program to encourage home owners to modernize their houses and start a flow of private capital into the building industry.

Moffett set up temporary quarters at the White House and held his first press conference in the office of Marvin McIntyre, President Roosevelt's secretary.

He estimated that in less than 30 days he would be prepared to start money flowing to home owners for renovation work. Other phases of the housing program such as the mortgage insurance and mortgage association provisions, will be started later, he said.

Moffett has not yet selected the personnel who will assist him. He estimated he would require a staff of 250 here and would call upon other agencies of the government to assist in directing work undertaken in the various states.

"By fall, I hope to have started $500,000,000 toward renovation work," he said.

Conferences with industrial leaders and bankers have resulted in almost unanimous opinion that the housing plan is sound and has "great possibilities," he said.

"It's rather a difficult job," he said, smiling, "and it's different from any job I've had before. I guess I'll have to start work all over again."

GRAPE GROWERS OF SOUTHLAND AGREE

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—An orderly market was sponsored today by concord grape growers of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Orange and Los Angeles counties after meeting here before the California agricultural prorate commission.

The growers advocated prorating control of 210 acres of the total of 235 acres devoted to Concord grape production in the four counties. The commission announced it would pass on the request at a meeting in Sacramento, July 17.

And then, demonstrate with your presence at the city council meeting Monday night, and possibly by oral expression, your desire that only necessary functions of government shall be carried out by use of public tax money.

Expressions of commendation for our tax economy program to the Register are very pleasant and gratifying.

To be effective, however, these expressions should go direct to the five councilmen who have been entrusted with the responsibilities of our city government, and who are now making up the budget for the coming year.

UNITED STATES BLUEJACKETS BATTLE FRENCH ON RIVIERA OVER REMARKS ON WAR DEBT

NICE, FRANCE, July 7.—(UP)—United States naval men some of whom did some enthusiastic fist-fighting and generally got into difficulties on the Riviera last night were severely lectured in salty phrases today and then permitted shore leave until 9 p. m. curfew.

Two of the 20 American seamen presented to a group of seamen were seriously hurt in rioting but officers said only a comparatively few were involved.

"I lectured the men in strong naval language," said Capt. R. B. Coffey of the U. S. S. Arkansas. "But I cannot punish all for the sake of a few. I will consult the French police before inflicting penalties. Be assured that the guilty will be severely punished."

U. S. S. Wyoming men also were less seriously involved.

1934 CAMPAIGN OPENED TODAY BY G. O. P. BOSS

JACKSON, Mich., July 7.—(UP)—Henry P. Fletcher, Republican generalissimo, officially opened the party's 1934 campaign today, picturing the present administration as a middle-class dictatorship put in power by rubber-stamp congressmen.

Fletcher's first major address since election as chairman of the Republican national committee, as prepared for delivery, asked how any one can regard the party now in power as "Democratic."

"It has gone completely wrong," he told 50,000 Michigan Republicans who rally officially opened the 1934 campaign.

Fletcher described the national government as a "vast network and maze of bureaucratic agencies," by means of which, he said, the president is administering power and authority comparable only to that of Hitler and Mussolini.

Congress, he said, has abdicated and become a mere parliament, on the old French model, "to register the decrees of the crown."

"Clothed with unprecedented authority, the president has in turn delegated the control of the livelihood, business and property of the individual American citizens to a vast mass of theorizing, meddling, directing, spending, lending and borrowing agencies, lettered on the Russian model."

All previous administrations, Democratic as well as Republican, have supported, defended, even revered the constitution, he said, and then added:

"It remained for the present administration to take the first steps to emasculate it, to attempt to destroy the faith of the American people in their free institutions and in the instrumentalities established by the constitution to protect and preserve their individual right and liberties."

"I believe that the government, by tampering with our currency, by destroying confidence, by absorbing the flow of capital into industry, by the hundred and one measures of interference and control, not only has delayed the return to sound economic principles and conditions in this country but has

FOUR STAKE LIVES IN SCIENCE TESTS

CANON CITY, Colo., July 7.—(UP)—Two more life testers of the Colorado penitentiary soon will stake their lives against freedom in the role of "human Guinea pigs" when they submit their bodies to scientific experiments designed to test a tuberculosis preventive serum.

Carl Erickson, 32, convicted murderer, and Mike Schmidt, 32, convicted of criminal assault upon his daughter, already have been given the first serum and then injections of tuberculosis germs.

Gov. Edwin C. Johnson announced yesterday he will select soon two more life testers with outstanding prison records to be given an opportunity to serve as "scientific testing grounds" for the serum.

MEETING ON SUNDAY MAY HALT STRIKE

Threat of General Strike However Still Strong as Troops Keep Order

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—(UP)—The Central Labor Council of San Francisco today took a hand in the attempts to settle labor troubles here which have blocked shipping and for a week kept the city in a turmoil.

A "strategy committee" authorized by the council last night and appointed today indicated that instead of joining the movement for a general strike, as advocated by extremist leaders, it would attempt a settlement by peaceable means.

Although the threat of a general strike remained real, the attitude of the labor council was reassuring to the city.

Uncertainty Exists

Many unions will send delegates tomorrow to a meeting to consider the proposal for a general strike. Strong sentiment for such a strike was expressed by the carmen's union composed of employees of the Market street railway. The butchers union on the other hand, reportedly was opposed to a strike.

EAST SWELTERS AS NORTHWEST DONS TOPCOATS

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—Temperatures sank to below freezing in the northwest today in the wake of storms which killed five people, while New York and the eastern seaboard sweltered in the seventeenth day of a record heat wave.

Topcoats were comfortable in Des Moines, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago. The Central park observatory in New York recorded 130 degrees on a thermometer placed in the sun.

In North Dakota the mercury dropped below the freezing point in Minnneapolis, Montana and South Dakota. It hovered around 40 degrees. Chicago expected a maximum temperature of around 63 degrees today.

Two persons, one in Chicago and another in Tarnov, Neb., were killed by lightning. A man was killed by a board ripped from his home by a small tornado at Roseland, Neb., and a woman and a small boy were crushed by falling trees in Detroit.

The mercury stayed high in the 70s throughout the night in New York. Officially the metropolis' maximum temperature yesterday was 92.1 degrees at 5 p. m. but unofficial thermometers want many degrees higher.

Washington showed an official maximum of 96 degrees. At Cleveland it was 92 and in Detroit, 94.

100 degrees was recorded in San Antonio and 98 in El Paso. Phoenix, Ariz., was the nation's hottest spot, officially, at 106 degrees.

The separation of Charles Ray, film actor, and his wife, Clara Grant Ray, was revealed today in a joint bankruptcy petition which listed separate addresses for the couple.

Mrs. Ray admitted the estrangement, declaring they agreed to live apart last year. She termed the separation "friendly." They were married November 6, 1915.

The voluntary petitions in bankruptcy listed Mrs. Ray's debts as $29,397 as against $400 in assets. Her husband listed liabilities of $29,294 and assets at $350.

CLAIMS EPIDEMIC IS NOT DANGEROUS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The outbreak of infantile paralysis in California is not as dangerous as indicated by the number of cases, Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings said today.

Present circumstances do not justify any interference with or discouragement to normal business and recreation, Cummings reported. He said there was less reason for persons contemplating travel to California for revising their itinerary than if a similar number of cases had been reported in another year.

WATER GROUPS IN CONFERENCE ON PROCEDURE

Only one of the major water companies of Orange county stands in the way of a completely united front on the proposed water program for the county with the view of securing government aid on a water development and flood control program along the Santa Ana river system, it appeared today following a conference of 25 major water interests of the county in Anaheim last night.

All those who spoke at the meeting, with the exception of H. H. Hale, of the Anaheim Union Water company, expressed a desire to unite on a water program to secure government aid, it was understood. Newspapersmen were barred from the session which was called by the water committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, about one-third of those present from Santa Ana were M. N. Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer; City Engineer J. L. McBride; Mayor E. G. Warner, C. H. Chapman, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg and George A. Raymer, secretary of the Associated.

No one present at the invitational affair was empowered by the organization they represented to take any action regarding the water program, it was said. There was no objection to the Elliott plan, it was stated, except as voiced by Hale.

Plan Evolved
Out of the meeting came a plan to present resolutions to all water interests in the county endorsing the action of the board of supervisors of Orange county in submitting the basic Elliott plan to Francis Cuttle, president of the Riverside Water company and the Water Conservation association who is representative on the permanent projects committee of the government National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

Cuttle's attitude toward Orange county was made evident in a recent letter to the board of supervisors in which he said that he could not approve of the basic Elliott plan as submitted to him unless the entire county was in agreement and the Riverside board of supervisors approved the plan. He informed the board that he had not forwarded the project to Washington, as the Orange county supervisors had expected him to do as a representative of the government, in order to keep Orange county's plan in the favorable position it now occupies in the government program.

The resolution will include the suggestion that any complications be worked out locally. Delegates from the water interests will present the resolution to the boards of directors and will report back at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Makes Demands
Hale, it was said, demanded that a canal with a capacity of 200 second feet be constructed from the dam at the upper Prado site, which is recommended in the Elliott plan, to the headwaters of the water companies and that the water companies be allowed to go above the dam to pump what water they need if not enough comes down the canal.

In reply to a statement made by Hale, a statement considered significant was said to have been made by James Irvine, who pointed out that the water companies should meet problems involved on the same basis as other interests in the county, and should not demand a guarantee of water if the supply becomes depleted to the detriment of the balance of the county. Mr. Irvine expressed en-

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 7. (To the Editor of The Register.) All I know is just what little I see in the papers. See today where Mr. Roosevelt is putting a "blab" (you know what a blab is? It's a thing you put over a calf's mouth to keep it from eating between meals.) Well, he is putting a "blab" on these so-called "officials" who are making speeches around the country trying to tell what the New Deal has in mind. He has informed 'em. "You go ahead and deal, and shut up about it. A dealer is not supposed to entertain along with his dealing." So the next time you hear a fellow speaking for the White House, you just holler "Yeah?"

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Completion of the cabinet was delayed because of wrangling between party factions over representation in the government.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS JAIL TERM

Manuel Arciniega, who pleaded guilty to driving drunk when he appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday, was sentenced to the rule of that jurist that all automobiles of drunk drivers shall be impounded.

Arciniega had no automobile. He was driving the car of a relative when arrested on the drunk driving charge on Katella road June 17.

The court sentenced him to six months in the county jail and cancelled his driving license permanently.

It is understood that Hale threatened to submit to the government the old Bailey plan, which calls for a dam at the lower Sulphur Slides site and which would have cost the county $16,500,000 had not voters turned thumbs down on the proposition. If the water company demands for a canal and a guarantee of water are not met.

Compare Acreage
The question was raised as to why the water companies should be assured a permanent water supply at the expense of all the rest of the county. The two major water companies furnish water to 2500 acres in a county of 510,000 acres, of which 150,000 acres is irrigated by the Santa Ana river. It is estimated that the water companies control about 16 per cent of the irrigated land.

A resolution was adopted at the meeting, it was understood, which urged the board of supervisors of Orange county, the Orange County Water District and Water Incorporated of Orange County in the development of a plan to secure competent engineering, legal and financial advice and report as to the feasibility of Mojave river water importation into this section.

Three points are to be investigated, it was said, (1) full consideration of the quantity of water reasonably available from the Mojave river, (2) cost of construction of necessary works, and, (3) method and approximate cost of securing necessary water rights.

complicated and confused our entire political and economic situation."

Fletcher warned against costs of the "New Deal."

"The party recognizes," he said, "that in times of stress and depression, no one in this land should be permitted to suffer from want. But the squandering of the nation's capital through wasteful current expenditures surely does not make for permanent relief and recovery, which alone can secure steady employment and progress."

"When we insist on a return to the sound principles of democracy we are not to be understood as preaching the doctrine of stand-patism."

"We recognize that the government should and must prevent private enterprise from running amuck."

"We recognize that many industries are affected by public service, and have a public duty which they should not be allowed to disregard."

"We believe that standards of common honesty and decency can be maintained under the law by industry itself, without regimentation and state direction."

"We believe that the processes of democracy are adequate to meet changing conditions and that Republicans are not necessarily static."

"We do not believe that the national wealth and well-being of the whole people can be increased by restricting production and by causing an artificial and unnatural scarcity."

"We want fewer get-rich-quick Wallingfords and more editions and we think we can have all these things without a cowardly surrender of Democratic principles."

"I propose in due course to set up committees of the most competent men we can find to make a study of current economic questions, so that their reports may furnish the basis of a constructive and forward-looking Republican legislative program."

CONCLAVE OF OIL BARONS CONTINUES

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—The wage and labor conference of Pacific coast oil executives will be resumed Monday with arguments centering on a provision of the oil code administration order, decreasing any pay increase granted employees be retroactive to Sept. 1933.

Representatives of the Associated Oil company employees will be heard when the hearing is resumed. Employers are contesting the retroactive provision, holding that it actually violates the code.

W. C. George of the Shell Oil company defended the company union plan at yesterday's conference. George said the plan has been applied in his company more than 12 years and has been satisfactory. Many Shell employees are receiving higher pay than that provided by the oil code, the speaker said. He said the employees maintain a council, tantamount to a union, which annually meets with department heads to discuss wages and working conditions.

Declares Lawyers Incorrect; Fails To Submit Proof

Following the story in The Register last night of the appearance of Attorneys Otto Jacobs and Charles Swanner at the budget meeting of the city council Thursday night, when the attorneys declared they were there at the request of a group of business men and chamber of commerce representatives who had previously appeared at the meeting to seek a grant of $4250 from city tax funds, A. Cavalli, executive secretary of the merchants division of the chamber of commerce, came to The Register office today and said the attorneys were not there at the request of the merchants or the chamber of commerce. He was advised that if he would bring a formal statement to the effect that the statements of these attorneys were not true, The Register would be glad to print it. It had not been presented at press time.

JUDGES DISSOLVE TWO MARRIAGES

Two marriages were dissolved in superior court late yesterday. Mrs. Mildred Chapman winning a decree of annulment against Ernest Chapman, and C. E. Snyder being granted a divorce from Frieda J. Snyder.

Mrs. Chapman alleged that when she married the defendant at Yuma, September 4, 1932, he already had a wife. Snyder charged his wife with cruelty, saying she told him she did not love him, and also charging that she frequently would leave home without him or his knowledge. They separated at a session of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows at Santa Rosa last October 16, when she became the partner of another man in the grand march, leaving her husband surprised and chagrined, he claimed.

day that there was a possibility the ships might move on instead of remaining in Villefranche harbor till next Thursday, as was planned.

Kline, police said, was shot when he attacked a young French woman walking with her husband on a lonely road. The chief of detectives of Nice approached by chance and intervened.

Kline, it was said, struck the detective and knocked him down. The detective then shot him from the ground, Kline's chin was grazed and a bullet lodged in his neck.

Starts in Cafe
The big fight started at the Cafe de Paris. It was crowded with seamen from the two warships. Somebody mentioned war debts, and somebody else mentioned the high cost of living in France. The seamen were paid yesterday, and were ready to spend but thought the prices too high.

In a few minutes there was general fighting. Street crowds joined the French side and the

HITLER PLANS TO REORGANIZE STORM TROOPS

There was also the factor that, for propaganda purposes, nothing would have been more valuable to Hitler than a statement that Heines or anyone else had tried to assassinate him.

Many Rumors
There were other rumors of similar nature, which responsible sources have denied as soon as asked about them. One was that Goering met with an "accident" yesterday. Another was that Hitler's motor car was fired on. A third was that there was a fist fight at the Wiessee road.

There were stories also that disaffected storm troops were going through the Wedding district of Berlin, demanding revenge for the killing of Roehm.

After the clarity with which Nazi methods were revealed during the last few days, investigation seemed to disclose conclusive evidence that this report also was untrue.

Two tours of the district, one yesterday afternoon and another last night, showed the ordinary policemen patrolling single instead of in groups and without carbines. There was no excitement of any sort. The district usually is a turbulent one, compared to others in the city, but extensive questioning failed to disclose any knowledge by anyone that there had been disorder.

"It's first act will be to appear before the president's mediation board and give it a clear exposition of labor's principles and the issues involved in the present controversy."

Later, he said, the committee will seek a meeting with waterfront employers "and attempt to have those gentlemen see this situation, so far as labor is concerned, in a different light."

"I believe there is no danger of a general strike at this time," he added. "This is the first time the striking unions have actually called upon the labor council and we are now going ahead in an attempt to settle this strike if it can be settled in a peaceable manner."

The plaintiffs were heirs of Eva M. Leach, who died in 1929, leaving them the legacies to be paid when they reached the age of 21.

FRUIT THIEVES STOPPED WHEN OFFICERS FIRE

A volley of gunfire by Los Angeles sheriff's deputies early today ended the reign of an alleged gang of orange and avocado thieves who, according to officers, have been raiding groves in the La Habra district.

Six men were arrested when the deputies halted a truck on Bandini boulevard after a chase in which several shots were fired. The truck contained 95 boxes of oranges.

All the suspects were from Los Angeles and will be turned over to the Orange County sheriff's office Monday for prosecution. It was announced by the Los Angeles officers. ## TOOTH DECAY

Each individual tooth is a distinct anatomical organ, set in the jaw (alveolus). The root portion of the tooth, a bone-like substance (cementum) is inclosed in a tough, fibrous sac (peridental membrane) by which it is attached to the bone. The portion of the tooth above the gums is covered by the enamel, a hard flint-like substance; underneath the enamel is the dentine, more porous and more like bone. Through the center of the tooth is the pulp, commonly called the "Nerve," consisting of minute blood vessels and a nerve filament. These emerge from the end of the root and join larger nerves leading to the brain and blood vessels leading to larger veins and arteries, thence to the heart.

Authorities differ greatly on the cause of Dental Caries (decay). Some attribute it to acid forming bacteria which dissolve the lime or calcium portion of the enamel and thus open the way for other bacteria to attack the softer dentine, others claim that it is due to faulty diet, lacking in sufficient calcium salts to resist attack, others claim that it is a natural process of elimination, and that in the dim future, due to advanced civilization and change of dietary habits, the human race will eventually have no teeth. They will have no evident function and will go the way of the appendix and the tonsils.

HOLDS PURPOSE OF LIQUOR ACT WAS VIOLATED

The conviction of E. G. Minneman, Santa Ana cafe man, of operating a saloon at 115 1-2 North Main street, Santa Ana, which Minneman appealed from Santa Ana police court, was upheld in a decision rendered today by Superior Judge H. G. Ames. Judge Ames affirmed the jury verdict of the lower court, and rejected Minneman's contention that the evidence did not support the verdict. Two witnesses, it appeared, had testified that they were served beer without meals. Judge Ames' opinion today stated that "it may be true that the place of business maintained by the defendant did not have the characteristics of the old time saloon, but the purpose of the liquor control act is apparently to prohibit sale of intoxicants on the premises except when served with bona fide meals."

IZZ ZAT SO?

By STRIPPED BARE (Not Bugs Nor Max)

It was council meeting night, and all was quiet, all over the house. Just like the night before Christmas. In fact, it was the night before Christmas for the old political crowd. A new Santa Claus was about to be born.

They looked in, lean and hungry. It had been a long fast. "Wasn't the depression awful?" one growled to another. "But Wintner is going. The NRA will put us in the money again, Ted."

"Ah-h-h. In the money. That listens good," murmured George. "But what do you mean, NRA?" he asked, puzzled. "Where do you get that stuff, Bill?"

"N. R. A.? Oh, that means New Raids Allowed. If you know what I mean," Bill responded. "I know what you mean," affirmed George, with a gleam in his eye. "I'd like to send that guy LeGaye to China," he added thoughtfully.

Meanwhile, Wintner and LeGaye were discussing with Bruns and other good watchdogs on the council. They were suddenly interrupted.

A door opened and a long, bony finger was thrust in. It bent at the middle joint, and the end of it wagged. Wagged imperatively. Warner turned slightly pale, got up and marched out through the door like a chocolate soldier.

A little later he was back in his seat, perspiring slightly. He nudged Bruns. "That was Bill," he whispered huskily. "He says hold everything until Bill Penn gets back from vacation. Then we can swing it our way—I mean Bill's way." Bruns nodded obediently.

"And Bruns had promised to vote against N. R. A. If we put him on the council," LeGaye muttered, wearily. "Well, murmured Wintner, 'I suppose he's wondering what you are yelling about. It isn't your money he's going to spend. At least not much of it.'"

A wild laugh rang out from the group of spectators. One was seen to double up and slap his knees. "Ho, ho!" he chortled, pointing out through the door. "Take off them whiskers, Bill Jerome. I know you."

This spectator was a dull fellow. He had been late with his recognition. Practically everybody else there knew who was outside the door. That is, they knew who would be outside of the door, naturally, with the grand opening of the city treasury in sight.

Anyway, several of them, passing the council room at the four o'clock "preview" meeting that afternoon had seen Messrs. Jerome, Stephenson and Raymer on the receiving line for the new council, and had heard the familiar strains of "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

And the gang, gentlemen, is all here. It won't be long now.

THREE HURT IN WRECK; DRUNK DRIVER SOUGHT

Three persons were hurt and an alleged drunken hit-and-run driver is being sought as the result of two wrecks in Orange county last night.

Louis Van Cleave, Huntington Beach, received a broken knee cap at 7 o'clock when his car was struck by a speeding hit and run car at Main street and Huntington Beach boulevard in Huntington Beach. The other driver had been drinking and was guilty of improper passing, violation of the right of way, failure to make a boulevard stop and driving on the wrong side of the road, according to official reports. Van Cleave was treated at the Huntington Beach Emergency hospital.

Marjorie McCall, 20, 304 North Olive street, Orange, and Billie Collar, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Collar, Tustin, were taken to the Orange County hospital for emergency treatment last evening when cars driven by Miss McCall and Collar collided in Orange.

DOUBLE EXECUTION FIRST IN HISTORY

FLORENCE, Arizona, July 7.—(UP)—To the dirge of prayers and wailings of 16 members of their immediate family, two Mexican youths, their hands clasped in a final brotherly farewell, went to death yesterday in Arizona's lethal gas chamber in the first double execution of its kind.

Earlier the mother and father of the boys and 14 brothers and sisters had taken part in a final supper with the condemned youths inside the prison walls.

After this farewell meeting the family retired to the lawn outside the prison where throughout the night they prayed for the lives of Manuel and Fred Hernandez, 19 and 18.

They still were at their prayers when the youths, always affectionate toward each other, went to death strapped side by side in the tiny execution room.

EQUIPMENT FOR GAMBLING NOT TO BE RELEASED

Although defendants arrested on gambling charges in a raid by Orange county authorities on the gambling ship Monte Carlo, off Seal Beach, several months ago, have been acquitted of charges brought against them in Los Angeles county, following their acquittal in Orange county courts, the gambling equipment of the ship help by Sheriff Logan Jackson will not be relinquished to the owners until the courts so order.

This attitude was expressed today by the district attorney's office where it was declared that the acquittal of the defendants arrested in the raid had no bearing, from the viewpoint of the office, upon the right of the authorities to seize and confiscate the gambling equipment, which was admitted in court to have been used for gambling purposes.

That admission, however, did not come at the trials of the defendants on gambling charges, but at a hearing before Superior Judge H. G. Ames here, in connection with an effort made by the ship owners to recover their equipment from Sheriff Jackson. The ship owners contended that, although the equipment was being used for gambling, Orange county had no jurisdiction over it, as the ship was anchored outside of the three-mile limit. After taking evidence on the latter point, Judge Ames ruled that the ship was within the three-mile limit and that the county did have jurisdiction. He refused to order return of the equipment.

Since that time, a jury in Seal Beach justice court acquitted the defendants of gambling charges, and they also were acquitted in Los Angeles county this week, of charges that they conspired to violate the gambling laws.

"Nevertheless the sheriff still is holding their equipment and we will fight any attempt to recover it," the district attorney said.

ULTIMATUM ON LAW VIOLATION IS DELIVERED

Sheriff Logan Jackson delivered an ultimatum today to gambling interests wishing to operate in Seal Beach and elsewhere in the county, to the effect that he would use his men to "clean up" coast cities of vice and gambling.

In a telephone conversation today with Chief R. L. Howard of Seal Beach, Jackson said that gambling must stop in Seal Beach, and he would throw his deputies into the fight at once.

When Howard professed ignorance of who was in charge of gambling activities, he was told by Jackson to do some investigating at once and let it be known that gambling was at an end in the city.

Howard said that the gambling establishments were not operating now, following the revelation of conditions by The Register in a recent series of articles.

Jackson said that if the police departments were not competent or willing to enforce the laws against gambling, he would take charge to stamp out the evil.

MEDICA AFTER NEW WORLD MARK IN 440

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—Jack Medica, 19-year-old U. of Washington sophomore swimming for the Washington A. C. of Seattle, hoped to add another title to his fast growing list today in the 440-yard free style swim event of the 3-day National A. A. U. swimming championships at the World's Fair lagoon. He already has won four National titles in less than a year.

DEATH CLAIMS AGED MOTHER OF FORMER PASTOR

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hostetter, 1221 Orange avenue, today were advised of the death last night in San Diego of Mrs. Hostetter's grandmother, Mrs. Abigail Porter, well known in this city where she made her home with the family of her son, the Rev. E. T. Porter, during the latter's long pastorate of the First Christian church.

Her death occurred in the family home, 1267 Hendricks street, San Diego. The Rev. Mr. Porter is pastor of the University Christian church in that city, and funeral services will be conducted in that church Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

"Mother" Porter as she was affectionately known in this city, would have been 87 years old in August. She was born in Indiana and her maiden name was Abigail McKinley. She was a cousin of the late President William McKinley. Following Monday's funeral, the Rev. Mr. Porter will accompany her body back to the family home at Borden, Ind., where she will rest in the family burial ground with her husband and six children.

Surviving relatives are two sons, the Rev. F. T. Porter of San Diego and Claude Porter of Bloomington, Ind.; a son-in-law, Ben Seifers, New Albany, Ind.; five grand-children, Glen Porter of Sellersburg, and Gerald Porter of New Albany, Ind.; Merrill Porter, Lorene Porter Nash, of Los Angeles, and Pauline Porter Hostetter of Santa Ana, and a great-granddaughter, Marlene Joanne Hostetter, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hostetter.

"Mother" Porter had been ill for the past 10 days. It is believed that her death was due directly to injuries sustained three years ago when the family was living in Los Angeles. An unknown assailant entered the house one night when other members of the family were absent, and brutally beat the aged woman.

Reports from our dealers throughout the country indicate that there is no apparent slackening in the public demand for the Oldsmobile six and eight," it was said.

SAME BUDGET FOR ALL SERRA WORKERS URGED

Urging the spreading of government relief money by putting stenographers, clerks and all other employees of the SERRA on the same budget basis as the men and women assigned to SERRA projects, thus providing employment for additional workers, the Joiners Association of Orange county, has adopted a resolution for submission to the SERRA authorities.

The resolution, a copy of which was sent to the Register, is as follows: "Resolved, that the Joiners Association of Orange county, believing it to be the purpose of President Roosevelt to relieve distress as much as possible by the use of government money, and spreading same to the largest number of people, thereby rendering aid where needed, and inasmuch as a budget plan has been established for those who are or may be assigned to the various projects, we earnestly request that the clerks, stenographers and any other employees where it is possible so to do, be placed on an equal budget with those employed on the projects in construction, thereby giving employment to more people and a wider distribution of government money."

The resolution is signed by B. Milligan, president, and R. A. Huff, chairman of the board of trustees.

SURVEY SHOWS OPEN OFFICE BUSINESS IS FOR LOANS TO SATISFACTORY INDUSTRY HERE

Business activity in Southern California during June remained about the same level as in preceding months, according to the monthly summary of business conditions compiled and published by the Security-First National bank.

Although retail trade in Los Angeles during the month was of smaller volume than in May, the decline was not as extensive as usual at this season. Merchandise in suburban and rural communities, on the other hand, transacted considerably more business in June of this year than in the same period in 1933 and made a fair showing in contrast with May, the review states, continuing in part as follows:

Bank deposits extended their upward trend in June while credit conditions continued to improve. The turnover of bank deposits, as reflected by debits to individuals' accounts, was larger in June than in May, contrary to the usual downward movement at this season. Demand deposits of Los Angeles banks expanded to a new high level for the recovery period during the four weeks ended June 30, apparently as a result of United States government payments to individuals and corporations in excess of the amounts collected from them. The volume of time deposits also showed considerable growth.

"Unusually hot weather throughout the middle West increased the demand for California oranges and lemons during June above expectations and resulted in spectacular advances in prices. The advance of Valencia orange prices to the highest level of the usually prosperous year of 1930 was the outstanding feature of the agricultural situation during June. The deciduous fruit outlook for the state as a whole is good although unfavorable climatic conditions resulted in a very short crop in the southern counties. Unless unexpected developments alter the situation, the agricultural income of the state will be materially larger this year than last."

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor, Santa Ana Register—

Sir: To me one of the most interesting articles that has appeared in the Register for some time came to my attention in an issue of last week.

The article to which I refer was signed "An Interested Student of the Liquor Question." The article was of especial interest to me because about two weeks previous I had made the same suggestion to a local group and found it provocative of much comment.

While The Register article acquainted me with the fact that my idea was not an original one, it did strengthen my conviction that the solution of this age long problem would come in some such manner.

My idea and also the one to which I refer was briefly that the government handle all the processes in connection with the manufacture and distribution of intoxicating liquors, these processes would include all importations and all operations from the raw product stage to the consumer. The government policy to be selling of this product at exact cost.

A casual perusal of this plan as sketched in this brief outline might fail to catch one's attention, but a thoughtful perusal would bring out many salient points.

Two points in the matter that are glaringly clear are, first, how much law enforcement would be necessary to completely banish all bootlegging if the government were selling the finest product available at cost, (use your own judgment), another point equally important is that the full truth of this whole business and its true effects on the human system will never really be publicly known so long as any one or group of people are getting a profit from it.

Regardless of one's opinion as to the extent to which our government should project itself into active business, I personally feel there are certain products which we as citizens demand the elimination of private profit. I have in mind these three major products, first, "intoxicating liquors," second, "narcotics and drugs," I fail to see at this time why the remedy for the liquor problem would not apply in this case also, and product number three is that of firearms and ammunition with a greatly improved method or system of regulation regarding their sale—what a decline in wars and rumors of wars this would have if all the profits could be taken out of even the arms and ammunition end of the business.

While the ideas herein expressed are still in an embryonic stage, the general idea as set forth could be made a national policy if enough people agreed, as a straw vote I would be most interested to know what you my fellow-readers think of this matter.

I am trying to make myself believe that I am still living in a country that could exist even should it be deprived of all revenue from this traffic.

I feel its unemployed problem might still be solved even though the government advertise to us that it would be for us to refrain as much as possible from buying its product. Even though at all times the best qualities of liquors were at all times available what a different picture to Ameri-

Marking the first actual step taken in Orange county toward obtaining federal loans to aid industrial concerns, it was learned today that Secretary George A. Raymer of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has been named by RFC officials in Los Angeles as the agent for the county to receive applications for the loans.

Raymer now has government application blanks in his office in the courthouse annex for industrial concerns which desire the federal loans. He conferred yesterday in Los Angeles with Charles Corbin Bowen, of Washington, D. C., industrial representative of the RFC, and with T. C. Scroggins, district RFC manager, concerning the program for Orange county.

Some time ago Raymer received a telegram from John U. Callin, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, asking how much new credit was needed in Orange county for the purpose of providing working capital for established industries. In an answering telegram, Raymer said that about $600,000 is needed here for the purposes outlined.

For the purpose of maintaining the bank rate for the employment of labor, the RFC will make loans, when adequately secured, to industry, directly or in cooperation with Federal Reserve banks or other banks or lending institutions or by the purchase of participations in loans made by banks or others, to aid solvent industrial concerns established prior to January 1, 1918, when credit at prevailing bank rates for loans of the character of loan applied for is not otherwise available.

Such loans may be made only when deemed to offer reasonable assurance of continued or increased employment of labor. The maturity of the loan must not exceed five years. Interest will be at prevailing bank rate for the character of loan applied for. Loans will be made primarily to supply needed working capital, such as for payment of labor and the purchase of materials. In general, loans will not be made when the proceeds are to be used to pay existing indebtedness.

An incidental portion of the loans may, under certain circumstances, be applied to the payment of taxes on properties which are necessary to the operation of the business. In general loans will not be made primarily to finance new construction. Under exceptional circumstances, loans may be made to contractors for working capital, provided that satisfactory arrangements have been made to cover the entire cost of the project which the contractor has been engaged to construct.

Each applicant must execute a certificate that it is complying and will continue to comply with the approved code of fair competition for his branch of trade, or if there is none, with the president's re-employment agreement.

can youth would be presented to them if this change can be made. Orange county should certainly feel congratulated on the fact of having its largest newspaper one on which we look with pride because of its stand and support on these questions.

CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENTS FOR YEAR IN GAIN

ORANGE, July 7.—Valencia orange shipments through Sunkist associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange up to July 1 were 755 cars in excess of shipments for the same period last year, it was disclosed today in the report of Manager Clarence E. Skiles.

Shipments prior to July 1 this year totaled 1824 cars, as compared with 1669 cars for the same period last year.

June shipments aggregated 1217 cars of fruit, of which 69 cars were sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant and 1148 cars were moved to domestic and export markets, the report showed. June lemon shipments amounted to 186 cars, bringing the total lemon shipments to date to 470 carloads for the year. The market on California lemons is holding firm, to somewhat stronger in spots, due to rising temperatures in the east, in the view of Exchange officials.

The stabilization of values, bringing greatly increased returns to citrus growers of the county, is attributed in a large measure to the program of the California-Arizona pro-rate committee.

"The Valencia market during the past two weeks has undergone a downward adjustment in prices," an Exchange statement said. "Due to the somewhat lower price level there has been a marked increase in activity in many of the smaller markets that were almost forced to discontinue handling oranges while prices ruled at the higher levels, thus giving the necessary wider distribution and greater volume of crop movement. It seems reasonable to expect that about present values will be maintained under full control and orderly movement of the crop."

FORD'S SURRENDER
Henry Ford's surrender to the NRA was announced here a few days ago, but it stood up for only one edition of the afternoon newspapers. Then Ford heard about it.

The announcement was valid, as it came officially from NRA headquarters. In fact, Ford has no less an authority than General Johnson, himself. Apparently, the only thing wrong with it was that Ford had not yet been consulted.

Here is what happened:
A Ford dealer here has been for a long time the innocent bystander who was continually getting shot in the row between Ford and Johnson. This dealer has been barred from War Department and other contracts because of Ford's failure to sign up with the NRA. It does not mean much to Ford's volume of business, but it means a lot to the dealer.

The War department sympathized with the dealer's position, and recently joined with him in an effort to straighten things out.

SCHEME

Assistant War Secretary Woodring and other war officials consulted with the dealer. They worked out an idea for a compromise. This compromise was to be in the form of a letter from Ford to the dealer stating that he (Ford) had complied with NRA rules and would continue to do so. The letter was drawn up on the stationery of the dealer and addressed to him with the signature blank. It was to be sent out to Ford later for signature.

It seemed to be a perfectly good idea because Ford has complied with most NRA requirements and exceeded them in some instances.

ERROR

Of course, Woodring had to get Johnson's approval on the letter before it could be sent to Ford. The War department Samaritan took the letter over to the General. Johnson suggested a few changes in wording, but generally approved. He agreed that the letter would constitute compliance with the NRA, permitting the Ford Dealer to bid on the Government purchases.

Until then, everything was perfect. After that, nothing was. Johnson almost immediately called in newsmen and informed them that the NRA's foremost antagonist had "surrendered." That would have been a bad word to use even if the deal had gone through, but you can imagine how it struck Mr. Ford when he read it in the papers. Surrender, eh?

Woodring wept. He told his associates: "Johnson has been so indiscreet, I am afraid the whole thing is spoiled."
Johnson's office explained that the General thought the letter from Ford was real, that it already had been signed by Ford. It was too late then for explanations to do any good.

WHITE LIE

The State department went to unusual lengths on the inside to keep the Japanese from getting excited about the expedition of army and navy bombers to Alaska.

The Japanese know very well what we are sending the bombers up there for, but, in diplomacy, it is considered best to tell a polite lie even when everyone knows you are lying.

At first, it was planned to announce the excursion as a long-distance test flight. That was rather feeble, so the master diplomatic minds decided to bolster it by calling the trip a goodwill flight to Canada. That had some foundation because the planes are to stop at one or two points in Canada.

The Canadians, however, did not care much for it. Just as the announcement was being mimeographed in the War department, word came from Canadians to leave them out of it. The goodwill angle, therefore, was stricken out.

SHOUT

There is really no sensible reason why we could not shout from the housetops what the bombers are up to. They are going to photograph Alaska from the air with a view to determining the best available spots for defense works in case of trouble in the Pacific.

No one can justly consider that offensive or threatening.

ORDER

Wall street insiders report there is scarcely a brokerage account on the street now which does not comply with the provisions of the New Control Act. At least, that is true of all accounts handled by the reputable concerns. Furthermore, there is scarcely a broker who does not have his affairs in such shape that he can meet any expected regulations from the new commission. That is why prices have held up fairly well.

BRAINS

Prof. John Williams of Harvard is heading a secret commission of Brain Trainers to South America. They are to reorganize the finances of the country, and there with the unofficial sanction of the State department. Although no announcement will be made about it.

OMISSION

Some observers noted that chairman Fletcher of the Republican Committee did not mention the Ford case in his criticism of the NRA. He centered his attack around the Herberman Mills resistance. No one knows why.

MEAT
Despite advance reports you could have knocked Wall Street over with a feather when Joseph P. Kennedy was chosen for the S. E. C.

Not that the boys object. But Kennedy has often been referred to in informed circles as one of the dozen biggest operators in the Street. He's independently wealthy and his associations with Henry Mason Day and Charles M. Schwab (the latter during the war) rank him in Grade A speculative society. Also he was at one time the office manager for the important firm of Hayden Stone. He certainly knows what it's all about but comment runs that it's a little like naming a lion to regulate the meat diet of his fellow carnivores.

REALISTIC

There's no question of Kennedy's sincerity or good faith but New York is busy dodging the angles. Political features come in for animated but rose dissection. Apart from his personal friendship for the President, Kennedy is on excellent terms with son James—which is supposed to count. Farley also urged the appointment. And of course local cynics dwell caressingly on Kennedy's contribution to the Roosevelt campaign fund and the fact that the Democratic National Committee still owes him money.

More charitable observers remark that Kennedy will be outnumbered four to one by the "liberal" element on the commission—so he could hardly put much sand in regulation's gears even if he so minded—while his first-hand knowledge of market mechanics should come in handy. He is not an Exchange man in the strict sense. In general his selection is taken by local big timers to mean that regulation will be realistic but not punitive—which comforts them.

OTHERS

The appointments of James M. Landis, George C. Matthews and Ferdinand Pecora have been discounted well in advance. Wall Street accepts them as rulers with neither enthusiasm nor alarm. It's understood that at least they have no yen to destroy what's left of thecurities business.

Robert E. Healy is thoroughly unpopular in utility circles. As counsel for the Federal Trade Commission he acquired the knack of conducting penetrating and sometimes embarrassing probes. Listed corporations are a little uneasy about his passion for elaborate reports but hope his colleagues will keep him from running amuck in that direction.

Well-posted insiders say that Landis will do the works even though Kennedy has been named official chairman. That means rigorous penalties for funny business but all cards face up on the table from the word go.

New Yorkers who don't like the New Deal have an attentive eye on the S. E. C.'s own selection of its subordinate staff. Reports are freely current in influential quarters that political considerations will play a prominent part. Local Republican circles are set to raise a lusty claim of foul if this happens.

SAFE

Wall Street professionals have been figuring they had until October for a final fling but now appear doomed to sad disillusion. Insiders got word that one of S. E. C.'s first official acts will be to bespeak immediate compliance from all concerned. While it's true the Commission couldn't do much about it at present, if any one disregarded their plea they could make life plenty uncomfortable for such dissidents later.

So—except for plans to laugh off the law via Canada or London—most of the boys will play it safe from now on no matter how it hurts their feelings and pocket-books.

TOGETHER

New York sharps say there's more than meets the eye in the choice of James A. Moffett as Housing Administrator. Moffett's ready acceptance of New Deal principles for the oil industry caused a breach between him and Walter Teagle and separated him from his job with Standard of New Jersey. He got his reward with Standard of California. Now he draws a key post with the government in a field that's strange to him.

How come? Because the housing program must have hearty cooperation from private industry to succeed and Moffett—aside from being a skilled organizer—has personal contacts with big business that should be valuable. Comment runs that it doesn't matter whether he knows a shingle from a door-knob if he can only figure a way to get producers and consumers together.

FORD

The impending love feast between Henry Ford and General Johnson wasn't Henry's idea—although the overtures came from the motor company. New Yorkers who know Ford say he never sold a car to the government.

But his dealers weren't so thick-skinned about it. They wanted their share of government cream and kept pestering Henry. It's rather novel for Ford to be paying any attention to dealers' wishes but times have changed.

Insiders state that Ford is personally no fonder of the Blue Eagle than he used to be and that his absence hasn't cramped his sales to the public. Final settlement of the year-old argument will be a compromise. Ford already complies with most auto

NEWS NOTES FROM BIG TENT

BY DICK FARRINGTON

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—"Pie" Traynor's wage of $10 on home run has taken some of the hobbles off the batters. . . . The new manager of the Pirates is perceiving the boys to hit without taking their intelligence from the coaching box on every pitch. . . . But what he has done to bring Larry French around is one of those clubhouse secrets. . . . George Gibson's real trouble started when he and "Arky" Vaughan duelled with verbal swords not so long ago. . . . Vaughan will hunt in Mexico this fall with Ernie Ostrat. "Chick" Hayes, "Red" Knepper and Larry French. . . .

Old Jack Quinn is keeping young by pitching for a Chicago semi-pro team. . . . Recently he chalked up his third straight win by hurling a 1 to 0 shut-out over one of the better outfits of the Windy City. . . . Now a rival team is trying to enlist "Red" Faber for a game against Quinn sometime this month. . . .

Several big league clubs which passed up a chance to get Curt Davis at a bargain last summer now wish they had him. . . . The Phils got Curt from San Francisco for the draft price of $7500, after he had consistently earned a chance in the majors with good records for several seasons. . . . Charley Grimm went to the Century of Progress Exposition recently and somebody got his hand in the manager's pocket by mistake, extracting eight bucks. . . . Charley evidently has not been keeping up with the progress of the times. . . .

They call Bill Terry the "Man Who Walks Alone" but he has been getting along pretty well. . . . A fan approached "Daddy" Vance at his hotel in St. Louis and asked him what time the game started. . . . "I couldn't tell you," answered Hermit of Homosassa, "because I never start any games." . . .

June O'Dea, otherwise Mrs. Vernon Gomez, chews the thumbs out of her white gloves every time she watches Lefty pitch for the Yankees. . . . Johnny Babich, the new Brooklyn pitcher from the Pacific Coast league, is of Austrian extraction, both of his parents having been born in that country. . . . Johnny's natal place was Albion, Cal., a lumber town. . . .

After Johnny Broasca of the Yanks had fanned five times in a game last week, Gomez consoled him. . . . "Never mind that, Johnny, I didn't hit well either my first season in the majors," said Lefty. . . . Lloyd Waner, Pirates, and Hughie Critz, Giants, a couple of National league welterweights, have been carrying on a private home run feud for four seasons. . . . In 1931, Hughey kidded Little Poison about his power at the plate and the upshot was a stand-

'CARNERA ROBBED OF TITLE'

So Say British Critics After Seeing Bout Pictures
DECISION CALLED FANTASTICBY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—

"Primo Carnera still is heavyweight champion of the world."

"Carnera was robbed of his title by some fantastic American boxing laws."

"Baer undoubtedly is the finest wrestler ever to hold the boxing championship."

These are a few of the opinions expressed by England's leading critics after a showing here of the pictures of the fight in Madison Square Garden bowl. All of the experts admitted they were absolutely bewildered by the decision which gave Max Baer the title.

The flash written by Frank Waters, and splashed all over the front page of the Daily Express, is typical of the British critics. Listen to Waters:

"I have just seen the Carnera-Baer world title fight film."

"Every boxing critic in London who has seen the film is dumfounded by the decision which gave Baer the title."

"Baer won the first and eleventh rounds."

"Otherwise he gained scarcely a point."

"Nine rounds Carnera won by clean decisive boxing."

"For nine rounds his mechanical piston-like left knocked the conceit off Baer's face. But although Carnera outboxed his opponent and hit him whenever he wanted, he did not seem to hurt him."

"Carnera's blows never ruffled Baer's hair, though he appeared to have opportunity enough to knock him out in every round."

"The announcer began the extraordinary fight in an extraordinary way. He introduced Baer as 'the California Adonis, on whom we all pin our faith to bring back the championship of the world.'"

"He certainly did under some fantastic American boxing laws."

In the film Carnera never seemed down for more than three seconds, and twice when he was down the film shows he was attacked and hit by Baer. How Baer escaped disqualification for this is incomprehensible. At least a dozen times Baer pummeled Carnera below the belt. The referee took no notice. How, then, did Carnera lose? He fell heavily in the first round and hurt his ankle. All through the subsequent rounds he was obviously lame. Despite that he completely outboxed Baer without hurting him."

"If you see this film, and you know anything about boxing, you will form the opinion that Baer did not beat Carnera, and never will beat him, even if he waits to grow as big as Primo."

For your information I might add that Waters, as did every other British critic, picked Carnera to win in a walk. It might be that Waters looked at the film through who, as usual, picked the winner. It seemed a nice, clean fight, in which Carnera was accorded every consideration.

INJURED KNEE MAY END LAZZERI CAREER

NEW YORK, July 7.—One of the most brilliant careers in baseball may be halted by an injured knee.

The future of Tony Lazzeri, Yankees' second sacker, rests on whether a floating cartilage can be snapped back into place. According to Manager Joe McCarthy, an attempt soon will be made to do this, and to drain water off the knee. If this is not successful, Lazzeri will have to undergo an operation similar to that which fixed up the notorious knee of Travis Jackson, Giants, infielder.

Lazzeri, 24, was hurt in a game against the Red Sox, July 4, at Boston. He was hit by a line drive from the outfield, which struck him on the knee.

Lazzeri has been a regular in the Yankees' lineup since he was called up from the minors in 1932. He has a record of 10 home runs and 20 runs batted in.

Lazzeri was born in New York City. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds.

Lazzeri was drafted by the Yankees in 1931. He made his major league debut in 1932.

Lazzeri is a right-handed batter and a right-handed thrower.

Lazzeri's career has been marked by several injuries. He has missed time in 1932, 1933, and 1934.

Lazzeri is expected to return to the Yankees' lineup as soon as he is able to play.

MISS POMMEL CITY LEAGUE'S TEAM, 10 TO 1

Pommeling three pitchers for a mass production of 18 basists, the Stars routed their City league brethren, 10-1, in an all-Santa Ana exhibition scuffle at the Municipal Bowl last night.

Pick of the City league on eight counts, the Stars proved no match for the National league representatives. The Stars got three runs in the first inning off young Nelson Bates, six in two frames off "Baldy" Foltz, and added another off Lloyd Lichtenwalter in the seventh. Lichtenwalter, ace of the Stars, was most effective, allowing one run and four hits in his third inning.

Jim Coates and Wilbur Stinchfield, the Stars' Coates, hurling shutout ball in six, Stinchfield traveled the final three, fanning seven but giving up the only run the National leaguers allowed when Lichtenwalter singled in the seventh and tallied on a triple by his batterymate, Gibson.

Conrad opened the Stars' first rally with an infield single. DeBusk sacrificed, and was safe on Head's error at first base. Preble scored both runners with a single pass second, and came home himself on Daley's out and Young's double.

Hits by Wilcox, Cole, DeBusk and Ballard gave the Stars two in the fourth, the first which Foltz worked. The little Commercial bank submariner ran into more trouble in the fifth. Daley singled, Young and Wilcox doubled, Coates singled and so did DeBusk, this disturbance setting four runs.

Preble's pass, bunts by Daley and Young, and a passed ball accounted for the last Star run in the sixth. It came off Lichtenwalter.

Colton's 4-3 victory over Riverside and Pomona's 7-4 decision over Redlands left Riverside, Colton, Pomona and San Bernardino all tied for the championship.

Riverside could have clinched the title by winning.

President William Harrison said the start of the second-half would be indefinitely delayed while the deadlocked leaders thresh out their complicated puzzle. He added, however, that he expected this to require only one week, and set July 17 as a tentative date for the beginning of the "new season."

SERIES FEUD RENEWED

NORTH WANTED OPPOSITION-- BUT NOT REDS, S. C. OR CAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—This is a story of how "Tiny" Thornhill of Stanford called the "bluff" of Northwest football coaches in the last Pacific Coast conference meeting at Portland.

In the coaches' meeting, representatives of Northwest colleges talked long about how hard it was to arrange games with Stanford, California and U. S. C. That was time for Thornhill, who does little worrying about his schedule, to raise the ante.

"All right," began Thornhill, in his drawl, "we have a date open for any of you. Between the Santa Clara and U. S. C. games on our schedule we have an open date. You'll admit the Broncos are tough. As I understand it Washington State, which has raised a fuss about not being able to get on California's schedule this fall, has an open date that day. So has Oregon. Now Babe Hollingberry and Prince Callison, do you want to play us that day?"

Before either had a chance to answer such a brush reply to their complaints, Howard Jones, the "head man" of U. S. C., spoke up: "If Stanford wants to take on a tough opponent just before it plays us, we'll also put a Northwest team on our schedule for that date."

No one took the offer. Evidently the Northwest schools want to play, but they're not willing to go as far as Stanford, California or U. S. C. and "play them as they come." For a time it appeared that a six-game conference schedule might be arranged. But not when Jones and Thornhill decided to give them a wide-open spot.

By HARRY GRAYSON

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Remember "Ping" Bodie, the old White Sox, Yankee and Athletics outfielder? . . . He's an electrician for a movie studio in Hollywood now . . . and still is hitting homers for the studio team. . . . Lawson Robertson, Penn track coach who piloted the U. S. Olympic teams in 1924-28-32, is first in line for the job in 1936.

Reggie McNamara now has 100 six-day bike races behind him. . . . The string was started 26 years ago. . . . Dumb Dan Morgan, the famous Broadway fight character who led Jack Britton to a world championship, has a son coming up in the ring. . . . And he's destined to rule the light-heavies some day, Dan says. . . . Col. E. R. Bradley has a 2-year-old in Black Helen who is 1935 Kentucky Derby material. . . . The filly has won all the three races she has run in this year.

Pictures of that "most valuable player," presented to Carl Hubbell, Giants' southpaw, show that the sculptor made a mistake. . . . The trophy is a model of a right-handed pitcher.

IS BAER REALLY GOOD?

All the old-timers are not yet ready to admit Max Baer to the haloed group that includes Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson, Dempsey and Tunney. Most of them always were reluctant to take a newcomer into the charmed circle.

Even the great Dempsey was denied entrance for a time by some.

Jack's supposed lack of defense was stressed for a while, and he was convinced the more hard-bitten skeptics that his dynamic attack left little need for one. And in the Gibbons engagement, the Manassas man proved that he was far from being a poor fencer.

In doing a series of stories four winters ago I asked a score or more of former flistic luminaries to name the greatest fighter they had ever seen. With one exception, the reply was "Dempsey."

Picture Baer plying Corbett or Tunney with a right-hand lead, which he with what he scored the first and most important knockdown in the first round of the Carnera fight," says Bobby Cunningham, who as a bantam battled Sammy Kelly with skin gloves in the first contest held in a padded ring in this country, at Coney Island in 1922.

Kelly, who died not long ago, broke Tunney into the back-busting business. Cunningham now is a judge and timekeeper on the list of the New York boxing commission.

AN OLD SHARKEY CUSTOM

That was the trouble with Sharkey. The gob devastatingly sloughed off golden opportunities with a bobble of some kind or other. No fighting man stumbled on the threshold of success oftener than the Lithuanian.

There was something lacking in Sharkey's fighting makeup. Yet his artistry in the ring and his vocal accomplishments out of it combined to make him the third biggest money earner in the history of the ring. He had more chances than a wayward son of the rich.

But professional boxing is fortunate that the Schmellings, Sharkeys and Carneras have run their courses. They were misfits, when one comes down to cases.

In addition to having proved himself an all-wool-and-a-yard-wide champion, Baer will stir up more excitement outside the ring than there has been since the Boston Strong Boy was hoisted to a judge and timekeeper on the list of the New York boxing commission.

Finals in all events of the Orange County Public Parks tournament will be decided on the Willard courts here Sunday, with winners qualifying for Southern California sectional matches in Los Angeles later this month.

Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana and Hoots Chilson of Anaheim clash at 9:30 a. m. for the men's singles title. Mildred Ward of Santa Ana and Melva Roquet of Anaheim go on at 10:45 a. m. in the women's singles final. Men's and mixed doubles follow at 2:45 p. m.

Princeton's Crew Beaten In Cup Race

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 7.—(UP)—The Leander varsity crew today defeated Princeton's eight by three-quarters of a length in the final race for the Henley Grand Challenge Cup final.

Princeton, stroking a fast 40 led at the start but Leander quickly raised its boat and was leading after the half-mile mark was passed.

Princeton made a sprint at the mile mark, gaining rapidly as Leander shot over the finish line a winner.

There you have it. The people's choices have been nominated by "Memphis Bill" Terry and Joseph Edward Cronin, rival bosses in the big league all-star altercation at the Polo Grounds July 10.

However, they appear to be the only people's choices they chose in the more controversial positions, according to the starting lineups announced today.

Cronin, American league manager, compromised with fans on third base, where he wants Frank Higgins of the Athletics and the public wants Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, by naming Higgins. He compromised the Simmons-Averill dispute over center field the same way.

Fans' Choices Ignored

The pitching staff will prove equally unfamiliar to the boys who sent in votes. They hung up quite a majority for Whitehill, Hudlin and Grove. Cronin scarcely heard the uproar; he picked Ruffing, Russell and Harder.

Terry larded his selections in the National league list with a bit of diplomacy. He sprinkled the word "or" quite liberally, letting Klein "or" Medwick "or" Ott "or" Cuyler.

However, it is to be assumed both Medwick and Klein will not play left field, so the good public may expect to see the team take the field with Ott, whom they did not want so badly, and sans Medwick, whom they wanted very badly. The Giant boss relied on Travis Jackson, the public's man, in place of "Arky" Vaughan at short.

It is quite likely that the spectacle of Gomez, the great firstball ace of the Yankees coming to grips with Carl Hubbell, rangy Giant pitcher, will thrill the public to the point where they will forget that some of their other pet notions were passed around like boarding house spinach.

SEAL BEACH TO HAVE FLOAT IN LIGHTS EVENT

SEAL BEACH, July 7.—Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce, appeared before the Seal Beach city council at night, asking that the city join with other cities of the county with a float in the Tournament of Lights parade. The entry of the city in the pageant was favorably discussed and was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

A large seal has been suggested as the most representative design for a float. Welch also suggested that the city enter the advertising campaign being conducted in two Los Angeles newspapers.

Robert C. McMinn, one of the three contractors awarded the contract, for installing the plumbing in the new public comfort station, announced the completion of the work. A check for $250.40, which is 75 per cent of the original contract price and extra work done, was ordered drawn to the three plumbing contractors. C. N. Marshall, who was given the contract for the construction of the building, was given checks totaling $235.75 per cent of the contract price. Twenty-five per cent of the contract is being withheld pending the expiration of the lien period of 35 days. The rest room is now complete with the exception of one coat of outside stucco, the interior painting and the wiring.

Applications for licenses to operate chip canoes in the city were received from F. E. Myer, of Santa Monica, and from Julius Hammer, of Seal Beach. The applications, accompanied by the $300 for a year's license were referred to the council for investigation. Hammer's canoe will be located in a room to be built in the corner of the building now occupied by Walker's Nite club. The one to be operated by Myer will be located in the Kobernick building at 119 Main street.

Mr. Chenoweth of the Byron-Jackson Pump company, appeared before the council to present a quotation on the repairs to one of the main sewer pumps. It was stated by Sewer Superintendent C. L. Mechem that the pump is not working to full capacity and that repairs will be necessary to enable the pump to operate sufficiently for the summer season. Mechem was instructed to secure a bid on the same job from the Fairbanks-Morse company before the job is let.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

The Oppermanns, by Lion Feuchtwanger, published by The Viking Press.

"The Oppermanns" is a novel in which the author presents the fate of a family of Jews in Germany. They are wealthy Jews, drawing a comfortable living from the furniture business founded by Immanuel Opperman. Martin Opperman, one of the three sons of the founder, manages the factory. Edgar, another of the three brothers, is head of a clinic in Berlin, a man with an excellent professional reputation. He has perfected a treatment for certain throat affections. Gustav is another brother, an intellectual, rather a liberal. He writes, he patronizes the arts. In the family there are others—the wives of Martin and Edgar, the son of Martin and the daughter of Edgar, and the son of the Opperman sister. There are many other characters in the book. Their stories and their experiences serve to portray to us a most complete picture of what is happening and has happened in Germany.

In reading "The Testament of Youth," by Vera Brittain, one had the feeling that one had traversed the entire gamut of experiences growing out of the war. All the important and tragic emotional reactions which were experienced by those who lived through the war close to its tragedy are portrayed in that book.

"The Oppermanns" does exactly that same service for us, for it presents a broad panorama picture of events in Germany as they have affected the Jews.

In the beginning of the story we see the Oppermann family together, in a position to celebrate together the time-honored feast of their race, each doing a constructive piece of work, living comfortably, enjoying life in an intellectual fashion. At the end we see them all scattered and sorrowed. We are made aware of the viewpoint of those who try to remain in Germany by renouncing their faith, by submitting to atrocious indignities. We are brought in contact with the existence philosophy of the younger generation of Jews who have concluded that it is wiser to live for an idea than to die for it. It is also more beneficial to the idea one of them pointed out to Gustav Oppermann.

The book is a well written and fascinating novel by one of the foremost novelists of the day. The fact that it might be classified as propaganda, one ought to read it as a step toward an awareness of what is happening in the world today does not detract from its merit as a novel of fine literary quality.

Technics and Civilization, by Lewis Mumford, published by Harcourt, Brace and Company.

"Technics and Civilization" is history and criticism. It is loaded with import for students of current economic and social problems. The author has neglected to aspect of social life, art, science, philosophy, customs and manners in presenting the state of civilization today clearly before us and, having done that thoroughly, he treats of orientation. The reaction to the machine has two forms, he says, "the practical forward way involves the rebuilding of the individual personality and the collective group, and the re-orientation of all forms of thought and social activity toward life." The author promises to transform the nature and function of our mechanical environment and to lay wider and firmer and safer foundations for human society at large. . . . It would be a gross mistake to seek wholly within the field of technics for an answer to all the problems that have been raised by technics. For the instrument only in part determines the character of the symphony or the response of the audience; the composer and the musicians and the audience have also to be considered.

This book is well worth reading thoroughly but those who feel themselves pressed for time would do well to pass rather quickly over the first part, the history. Most of us can learn from Mumford's history of the growth of technics but just because he is so able in

Bitter with false labor,

COMEDY OPENS FIELDS FARCE TOMORROW AT BROADWAY WALKER STATE ON THURSDAY

The comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey, aided by Thelma Todd, Dorothy Lee and Ruth Etting, comes to Walker's State theater tomorrow for a three day run in "Hips, Hips, Hooray."

It is the story of a pair of peddlers of flavored lipsticks who meet the proprietors of a big cosmetic corporation and manage to work into the firm when some money disappears and evidence points to them as being guilty of the theft. Rather than argue the matter they flee and take part in a cross country auto race. The film has many lavish settings and musical comedy interludes.

Paired with this comedy is a drama which unfolds the operation of kidnappers and the processes of the representatives of the law in bringing them to justice. It is titled "The Mad Game" and brings Spencer Tracy in the lead role. He plays the part of a gangster who is double-crossed and sent to federal prison, of his reformation and his assistance to officers in helping solve the mystery of the kidnapping of the daughter of the judge who committed him to prison.

A cartoon in color, "Honeymoon Hotel," completes the program.

WARNER BAXTER IN "AS HUSBANDS GO" COMING TO STATE

Said by Manager Victor Walker to be one of the outstanding entertainment hits of the year, "As Husbands Go," featuring Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson, Catherine Doucet and Warner Oland, comes to the screen of Walker's State theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

It tells the story of the wife of a successful Iowa banker who becomes infatuated with a young Englishman while in Paris and of her decision to tell her husband she wants a divorce, which she finds herself unable to do because of his devotion and kindness. He learns of the situation when the young Englishman comes to visit in their home and tactfully proves himself master of the situation in a clever way.

The other feature on the double program is "The Big Shakedown," the story of racketeering applied to the cut-rate drug business. Charles Farrell and Bette Davis have the leading roles, supported by a cast including Ricardo Cortez, Allen Jenkins and Glenda Farrell.

A novelty film featuring Jack Denny, orchestra leader, rounds out the bill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murdy and children are at Bishop to spend a 10-day vacation.

Like a musing fly,
Through his great haunches
Are three cottages high.

He will squeak in the night
Like a foraging mouse,
And tremble with fright

He will affront the moon
With antics of folly,
And next day at noon
Sham green melancholy.

And I say to the woman
Who shares my cottage,
"That tree's almost human
In its whimsical dotage."

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY

Introducing a new idea into comedy, the entire cast of the famous old play, "The Drunkard," appears in W. C. Field's latest starring picture, "The Old Fashioned Way" which will play at the Broadway theater for three days starting next Tuesday, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The record-breaking run of "The Drunkard" in Los Angeles brought the attention of producers to its comic potentialities, and it is used as a play within a play in "The Old Fashioned Way."

In the hilarious comedy Fields plays the part of the villainous squire, but the original "Drunkard" cast plays the other roles. The cast includes such popular players as Baby LeRoy, Joe Morrison, Judith Allen and Jack Mulhall.

Other selected short subjects include a novelty musical, with Ted Fio Rito and his band in "What Price Jazz," a Terrytoon cartoon, "The Lion's Friend," and Register World News Events.

TIM MCCOY COMING IN AVIATOR ROLE

Another of the popular Tim McCoy adventure stories, "Speed Wings," in which the actor is cast as a daring aviator, will be shown at Walker's State theater next Friday and Saturday. Evelyn Knapp is the girl in the picture in which she has an important part providing one of the thrills in her race with death.

The story depicts the efforts of McCoy to win the world's speed record for the United States, after six of his fellow aviators have died in the attempt. Art Anderson, well-known Santa Ana pilot, will be at the controls of Colbeck's ship at the time of the jump. Colbeck finished second last year at the National Air races in the "spot" landing jumps and in his jump tomorrow, he will attempt to land within a 30 foot circle.

He will follow his jump tomorrow with other Sunday exhibitions here in preparation for the air races to be held in Chicago this year.

Arrangements for the jump are being handled by Dale Decker of the airport.

NEW WILLIAM ANN HARDING POWELL DRAMA STAR OF FILM AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

As a dare-devil in war, and a daring lover, William Powell is starred in "The Key," a thrilling dramatic production which plays for the last times at the West Coast theater tomorrow, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The play is set in Dublin during the last decade when Irish patriots had aroused the country to flaming revolt.

William Powell has the role of an English officer, a reckless, dare-devil fighter, and gay dog. He has an affair with Norah, who later married one of his fellow officers, played by Colin Clive. The unusual outcome of this triangular love affair is revealed in a smashing and surprising climax.

Hobart Cavanaugh, as the gay captain's dog robber, supplies the comedy element. Halliwell Hobbes and Donald Crisp have important roles.

Short subjects on the bill include the latest Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey Steam Roller," a comedy, "Knife of the Party," an interesting journey, "Cannibal Islands," and World News events.

"OPERATOR 13" TO END RUN TONIGHT

Declared by theater attaches to be one of the most dramatic and touching pictures ever shown at a local theater, "Operator 13," starring Marion Davies and Gary Cooper, plays for the last times tonight at the Broadway theater. Jean Parker, Ted Healy and the Four Mills Brothers have important parts.

"Operator 13" is a romantic story of intrigue, adventure and the love of a beautiful Northern spy who falls in love with the man she has sworn to kill. The whole-hearted endorsement of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers was given the picture.

The short subjects include a Pop-Eye cartoon, "Can You Take It," a Harry Gribbon comedy, "Corn on the Cop," a Technicolor novelty, "Mediterranean Blues," and Register World News events.

PASADENA PLAYERS CONTINUE FROLIC

PASADENA, July 7.—The Pasadena Playhouse is extending its yearly frolic into a second week beginning next Monday. It is called "Boulevard Stop" and is a fast-paced, colorful revue on current life somewhat on the order of "Hullabaloo" and "Low and Behold," former playhouse hits.

A cast exceeding 50, for the most part high spirited youth, caper through 18 scenes for which settings were specially designed by Willis Knighton.

Ralph Freud, June Shafer, Ray Murray, Phyllis Cooper, Hugh Hipple, Naomi Burston and Jack Harding are principals in the show. Rehearsals are under way for

Louis Bromfield's romance of the American small town, "The Life of Vergie Winters," picturing the seething intimacy of the small town, will show for four days at the Broadway theater starting tomorrow.

The story is one of a small town milliner, and her romance with the community's "favorite son." Ann Harding stars in the title role as the milliner, and John Boles is the male lead.

Helen Vinson plays the wifely member of the love triangle, and the various small town characters are portrayed by an exceptional large and brilliant cast, including among others, Betty Furness, Frank Albertson and Molly O'Day.

Selected short subjects include a Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Going Bye-Bye," a popular Pete Smith novelty, "Flying Hunters," and Register World News Events.

TWO FEATURES ON WEST COAST SCREEN MONDAY

Two feature pictures will show at the West Coast theater for four days starting Monday, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The first is "Let's Talk It Over," in which Chester Morris is starred in the role of a cocky sailor who's unadorned "brass" leads him to believe himself the intimate friend of a beautiful heiress and her society set. Mae Clark plays the part of the heiress and Frank Craven is her uncle. Included in the cast are Andy Devine, John Warburton, Irene Ware, Russ Brown and others.

"Let's Talk It Over" is filled with humor, has remarkably sustained characterizations, high interest and fast action and has a powerfully dramatic climax.

The second feature on the bill is "Most Precious Thing in Life," the screen adaptation of the popular magazine story published last year under the title "Biddy" in McCall's magazine. At that time it was pronounced one of the best stories of the year.

"Most Precious Thing in Life" deals with the story of a woman who finds herself in the service of her own son, a boy who has been reared by his wealthy, socially elite father and ignorant of the existence of his real mother. Jean Arthur, Donald Cook, Richard Cromwell, Anita Louise, Mary Forbes, Ben Alexander and others are featured.

A cartoon and World News events complete the program.

"The Virginian," in which Victor Jory will return to the playhouse on Tuesday, July 17. This will be the first of a succession of revivals of plays that have made history scheduled for the summer, each to run for a week.

Program Closes Season For Musical Arts Club

Closing their activities for the season, Musical Arts club members held a program of marked interest yesterday afternoon at La Casa Trabuco, entertaining as special guests 12 members of its parent organization, Long Beach Musical Arts club.

Yesterday really marked the opening of the new club year, since new officers, headed by Mrs. W. B. Snow, president, were in their chairs for the first time. They will resume their duties at the first meeting in the fall, Friday, September 21.

Much of the program harked back to the Southern California Allied Arts Festival contest just closed in Los Angeles. Clarence Gustlin, club program chairman, introduced Mrs. Grace W. Mabey, general chairman of the contest, who was honor guest for the day, together with her assistant chairman, Mrs. Ross-Gauer of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mabey gave the highlights of the festival, complimenting Orange county on the splendid showing made by its contestants. Miss Olive Schweitzer, winner in the intermediate piano division of the contest was presented yesterday. She played "Turkish Rondo" (Mozart) and "Hark, Hark the Lark" (Schubert-Liszt). The talented young pianist is a pupil of Miss Leonora Tompkins, a member of Musical Arts club.

Philip Hood Jr., a winner in the flute department of the festival, played two movements from Concerto in D Major (Mozart). Mrs. Ursuline Butler, contralto, of Long Beach, sang "Lungi Dal Caro Bene" (Secchi) and the aria "Con Fatale" from the opera "Don Carlos" by Verdi.

Mrs. Emma Prettyman, 2384 Hellotrope drive, has gone to Chillicothe, Ill., called there by the illness and death of her brother, F. W. Ahlendorf. She expects to be gone for about a month, spending some time in Chicago.

Mrs. Harry T. Duckett, 2925 Victoria drive, is spending some time in Laguna Beach, a guest at Hotel Laguna.

Mrs. Charles W. Drutt, 412 West Santa Clara avenue, will leave tomorrow for a several weeks' visit in Chicago where she will attend an exposition, visit in Indiana and in her former home, McConnellsville, Ohio. Mr. Drutt and their son, Bill, will remain here for the summer.

Miss Marie Carter, a bible teacher of San Francisco, has arrived for a summer visit in the Southland, and at present is dividing her time between the home of her niece, Mrs. Jefferson Eyerly, 501 South Van Ness avenue, and that of Mrs. Eyerly's mother, Mrs. Mary Stanton of Azusa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Greenberg and son, Arnold Greenberg, and Albert Stengel of Chicago, Ill., house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hurwitz, 1620 North Broadway, are leaving this week end for San Francisco, where they expect to spend several days. Sidney and Morton Greenberg and Mrs. Stengel and little daughter, Cherie Esther, are remaining in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurwitz and their guests have been making various trips of interest, going to Murietta Hot Springs for July 4 and to Los Angeles on Thursday.

Patrick Mercier, 1721 Valencia street, returned home this week from Phoenix, Ariz., where he spent the past week. His youngest brother, Jimmie Mercer, has just concluded a stay at Silverado Canyon with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Holmes, who are at the mountains for a month's stay.

Mrs. Ethel R. Slinko and Miss Esther Ridenout of Santa Ana, who are vacationing in the north, spent some time at Camp Kaweah in Sequoia National park early this week.

He spent some time visiting in Ashtabula, Ohio, with relatives. Arriving on the train last night, the Rev. Mr. Schrock was met in Riverside by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Schrock, and Miss Mary Schrock, 205 West Twentieth street.

NO EVENTS OF SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR SUMMER CAN COPE IN INTEREST WITH WEDDINGS AND PARTIES FOR BRIDES

MRS. ROWE BOYER.

MRS. DURWOOD CARTWRIGHT.

MRS. WILLIAM OTIS III.

MRS. JAMES W. MCCOY.

MISS FRANKIE McDONALD.

MRS. VERALD SELVIDGE.

MRS. ROWE BOYER
It was at a high noon wedding on Sunday, June 24, that Miss Lydia Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Gage of near Fullerton, became the bride of Rowe Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Boyer of East Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes directly following the morning service in Fullerton Baptist church, of which he is pastor. There was a formal bridal procession and the altar decorations were especially lovely. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer spent their honeymoon in the Yosemite and will receive their friends after July 15, at 826 East Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton.

MRS. DURWOOD CARTWRIGHT
Just at the twilight hour on Sunday, June 24, Miss Alice Marie Melott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Melott of Costa Mesa, exchanged wedding vows with Durwood Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cartwright of San Diego, at a ceremony in Costa Mesa Community church read by the Rev. Russell C. Stroup of Balboa Island, assisted by the Rev. W. L. Lowe, pastor of the Mesa church. The marriage culminated a romance of San Diego State College where both completed their studies after Mr. Cartwright graduated from high school in Youngstown, Ohio, and his bride from Santa Ana High school. After a honeymoon trip to Crater Lake and the Yosemite, Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright will live in San Diego.

MRS. WILLIAM E. OTIS III.
Returning from a honeymoon in San Diego and Southland cities, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Otis III, will be at home to their friends after July 15 in the Biltwell apartments, South Main street. Mrs. Otis was Miss Helen Miller, daughter of Mr. Elgie Miller of this city, and G. L. Miller of Phoenix, Ariz. Mr. Otis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Otis Jr., West Chapman avenue, and the grandsons and namesake of William E. Otis, 2226 Victoria drive. The young couple were wedded on Friday, June 29, in the Otis ranch home by the Rev. W. S. McDougall of Fullerton, a close family friend.

MRS. JAMES W. MCCOY
With the Rev. Franklin Minick, pastor of Orange Christian church, reading the service, Miss Thelma Seeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Seeley, 517 East Palmyra avenue, Orange, became the bride of James W. McCoy of Santa Ana, on Wednesday, June 20. It was a formal evening wedding followed by a reception for the score or more guests invited. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy took an early departure for their honeymoon trip upon which they visited Boulder Dam among other places of special interest. They have now returned and are receiving their friends at a pleasant suite in the Washington apartments in this city. Mr. McCoy is with the Weber Baking company.

MISS FRANKIE McDONALD
This summer has brought many interesting things to Miss Frankie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald, 115 South Van Ness avenue, but the two outstanding things were announced in mid-May of her engagement to William E. Selvidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Selvidge, 402 Halesworth street, and her installation on June 26, as honored queen of Santa Ana Bethel Job's Daughters. A special feature of the installation was the presentation to her by her fiancé of a gavel on which her name had been engraved below that of Mrs. W. R. Selvidge. The latter had received the gavel from her husband when she was worthy matron of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S., so it had an interesting history. The marriage of Miss McDonald and Mr. Selvidge will be a December event.

MRS. VERALD SELVIDGE
Mrs. Verald Selvidge was Miss Betty Howell, daughter of Mrs. Frances Howell of Santa Ana, and was wedded to Mr. Selvidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Selvidge, also of this city, at an early June ceremony held in the First M. E. bride chapel. It was an early evening wedding followed by a reception in the Howell home, 1445 Orange avenue, after which the new Mr. and Mrs. Selvidge left on a honeymoon which took them to the Yosemite and other California points of interest. They are now pleasantly established in Huntington Beach where Mr. Selvidge is with a tire company. Both he and his bride are graduates of Santa Ana High school.

August Bride-elect Receives Crystal Gifts

It was in compliment to Miss Grace Wilson, fiancée of Leona Johnson, that Mrs. James Bach Jr. entertained Thursday evening in her home, 729 Hickory street. Mr. Johnson extended a pretty little courtesy to his bride-to-be and to her mother, Mrs. L. W. Wilson, presenting the one with a corsage bouquet of white camellias and the other with a cluster of yellow and white pees for the occasion.

Miss Wilson, whose wedding day is to be August 9, was showered with crystal in the pattern of her choice. Bridge was played during the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Harold Darnell and Miss Theola Ridgway, scoring first and second high. Mrs. Charles Morgan was consoled.

Mr. Johnson's thoughtfulness was evidenced again at the refreshment hour, when yellow and pink sweet peas which he had sent the hostess served as pretty centerpieces. An inviting dessert was served.

Mrs. Bach's guests included Miss Wilson and her mother, Mrs. L. W. Wilson, and Mesdames Charles Morgan, Harold Darnell, William Hill, R. L. Stauffer and the Misses Helen Shaw, Theola Ridgway, Rosalind Schilling, Mildred Beuter, Carolyn Cushing, Louise Bach and Charlotte Richards.

Surprise Dinner Comes As Anniversary Celebration

Making plans for a celebration of their 28th wedding anniversary Wednesday, Dr. James Farrage maintained utmost secrecy so far as Mrs. Farrage was concerned, arranging a delightful dinner party as a complete surprise to her. The affair was given in their home, 2675 North Main street.

Dr. and Mrs. Farrage spent the day in Los Angeles, returning home in the evening to find that their daughter, Miss Lorraine Farrage, and her aunt, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, had carried out Dr. Farrage's plan for a gala occasion. Guests had assembled, and all was in readiness for the serving of a holiday dinner.

The dinner menu itself was in keeping with a patriotic theme. Especially inviting was a dessert course comprising individual angel food cakes frosted in red, white and blue, and ice cream molds centered with the figures "28." The Misses Lorraine Farrage and Idelle Johnston served.

Gifts for Dr. and Mrs. Farrage included a handsome casserole from the group as a whole. Participating in the event with Dr. and Mrs. Farrage and Miss Lorraine Farrage were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston and daughters, the Misses Frances and Idelle Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mercer, Mrs. Caroline Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fowler, this city; Mrs. Myrtle Curtin, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnston, Laguna Beach.

Vacation Atmosphere Pervades Club Meeting

Especially delightful was the meeting of Sedgwick W.R.C. Pioneer club held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Alice Trout, 2433 Hellotrope drive. The affair seemed truly a vacation event, since Mrs. Annie Arnold gave an interesting account of her travels a few weeks ago to Honolulu. In contrast to her description of the Hawaiian Islands as they were when she first saw Aubin's memories of the islands to they were when she first saw them 29 years ago. Other members contributed to an informal program with short talks.

Mrs. Emma Mosbaugh, president, conducted the meeting, with Mrs. Abbie Vandermast leading devotionals.

Roses from the home gardens of Mrs. Martha Ritchey were used in decorating for the pleasant event. In serving refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee, Mrs. Yount had assistance of her daughters, Mrs. Jessie Merrill and Miss Harriet Yount.

Special guests Thursday were Mrs. Estelle Grey, department president of W.R.C. and Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead. Members present with Mrs. Yount, the hostess, were Mesdames Emma Mosbaugh, Helen Aubin, Sarah Alford, Hannah Huntington, Fannie Cunningham, Rose Diers, Marietta Phillee, Alice Kryhl, Margaret Arnold, Elsie Wilson, Annie Culver, Dora Spaulder, Cassie Ferguson, Martine Ritchey, Emma Lleser, Charlotte Rittenhouse, Leona McLeod, Abbie Vandermast.

The next meeting is to be held Thursday, August 2, at noon with Mrs. Martha Ritchey, McFadden street. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

Medical Temperance Discussed for W. C. T. U.

Meeting early this week in First Christian church community house, members of Santa Ana W. C. T. U. heard Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, national director of medical temperance and narcotics, give an informative address on that subject.

It was brought out that the W. C. T. U. much begin its work anew, making home-makers realize the danger in alcoholic prescriptions.

Mrs. Effie Nicholson, vice president, conducted the business meeting. Devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Clark. A letter was read from Mrs. Amy Evans, president of the local union, who is spending the summer in Mankato, Minn.

Mrs. Henrietta Holmes, a special guest, brought greetings from her home city, Palisades, Colo. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting, an annual affair. Officers and directors will give reports, and dues will be payable.

Early Evening Hour Chosen for Quiet Wedding Rites

An interesting event scheduled for tomorrow evening is the wedding of Miss Eva W. Turton, daughter of John W. Turton, 1509 West Fourth street, to J. Arthur Thompson of Los Angeles, which will take place in the First Christian church just at 6 o'clock.

Simplicity will be the keynote of the rites, and only members of the family and close friends will be present. Charming flower decorations will prevail, however, and Miss Turton will wear a graceful gown of soft blue silk. The Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the church, will read the marriage service.

Following the rites will be a wedding dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. John W. Turton will entertain members of the family in their home. The bridal motif will prevail in table and home decorations, and the party will include in addition to the hosts and the guests of honor, Mr. Thompson and his bride, the latter's grandmother, Mrs. M. Backeberg, who timed her arrival from her home in Pocatello, Ida., in order to attend the wedding; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Turton; Mrs. L. C. Snodgrass of Escondido and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Allen and daughter Dorothy.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will depart later for Big Bear where they will spend their honeymoon. They will make their home in Los Angeles where Mr. Thompson is with the Beverly Creamery company. His mother, Mrs. Thompson, lives in Pasadena but will be unable to be present for the wedding and its subsequent dinner party.

Miss Turton is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Junior college, and has been bookkeeper for Allen-Trusty and Sons. Mr. Thompson also attended the local junior college after graduation from Santa Ana High school, finishing his course at U. S. C.

Quiet Ceremony Unites Graduates of Local High School

A ceremony read Wednesday, July 4, in Hollywood united in marriage two Santa Ana High school graduates, Miss Frances Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Miller, 1247 West Fifth street, and Willis E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. French, 519 East Walnut street.

The couple was unattended for the very quiet ceremony read at 1:30 p. m. in Hollywood Methodist church, with the Rev. Mr. Morley officiating. The bride wore a pretty frock of powder blue crepe, with white accessories.

On their return from a short honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be at home to their friends in the Park View apartments, Los Angeles. Mr. Moore, who is employed with Safeway stores, completed his high school studies in 1929. His young bride was a member of the 1934 graduating class.

Fourth of July Picnic Continues Tradition Of Irvine Ranch

In accordance with a custom inaugurated a number of years ago, James Irvine celebrated the patriotic holiday on Wednesday by entertaining a large group of friends at a Fourth of July party at the private beach of the big ranch.

In the absence of Mrs. Irvine her mother, Mrs. James Davis, assisted the host in receiving and entertaining the guests. The program was a delightful one, offering swimming and sand and water sports for those athletically inclined, bridge for those liking a quieter amusement, and finally the appetizing a fresco supper served at 8 o'clock.

As a sequel to the supper hour was the elaborate fireworks display arranged by the host to complete a lavish hospitality shared by more than eighty friends.

At the recent meeting of Calumpit Auxiliary U.S.W.V., held in Knights of Columbus hall, Mrs. Luella Randel was elected delegate to the national convention scheduled for August 19-21 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Katherine Reagan was named alternate.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner

Watermelon cocktail
Small T-bone steak, pan broiled
3 Tbsps. green peas
4 Tbsps. cubed carrots, buttered
1 baked lemon sponge cup
Black Coffee.

Calory total, 720.

I haven't been this generous on a dinner for a long time, but it doesn't hurt to go off the straight and narrow diet path once in a while.

To make the watermelon cocktail, cube good solid slices of red-ripe melon, or cut in balls with that convenient little scoop. Dust with powdered sugar and add lemon juice and chopped ice until correct flavor is attained.

The lemon sponge cup recipe was given Thursday, but it will be repeated briefly for those who failed to save it.

1 cup sugar creamed with 2 Tbsps. butter. Add 3 egg yolks. 4 Tbsps. flour, the grated rind of 1 lemon and 5 Tbsps. of lemon juice, a pinch of salt. Beat to a good froth; add 1-2 cups of milk, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites (2) and bake in set in a pan of water. Baking time, 30 minutes, oven slow. Serve hot with cream (omit for diet portion).

A quicker reducing diet is offered in the SAFE AND EASY reducing diet. You may have it by simply sending me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. All information and menus included, and it really does reduce!

Today's Recipe

Orange Pudding
1 cup white sugar
1-3 cup butter (5-1-2 Tbsps.)
1 egg well beaten
1 tsp. soda dissolved in
1 cup sour milk
1 cup raisins, ground
Grated rind of 1 orange and 1 lemon.

Cream together butter and sugar; add the beaten egg and whip until like creamy frosting. Fold the soda in the cup of sour milk and add together with the 2 cups of sifted flour. Fold in the grated fruit peels and cup of ground raisins. Bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes, the batter in a shallow pan.

While the cake is still hot, cover it with this dressing—
1 cup sugar
Juice of 1-2 orange
Juice of 1-2 lemon
Mix these ingredients together, melt over a quick fire and pour over the hot cake. Serve at once, with or without cream. Good hot or cold, but it rarely ever has the chance to get cold unless you can keep tasters out of it.

A piece of this cake pudding, 1-2 inches square, has a probable calory value of 230. Powerful food! But you know, you can't have your cake and eat it, neither can you keep curves within bounds and eat this dessert after a rich dinner. The average person may safely eat it if the main part of the meal has been low in calory values, viz., a vegetable plate (minus creamed trimmings and mighty little butter), no bread and butter, a green salad, black coffee or clear tea, and the dessert as reward.

Au revoir until Monday.
ANN MEREDITH.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Asa Relies On God

Text: 2 Chron. 15:1-12
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 8.BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of Advance

The story of kings and kingdoms is a badly mottled record. Highlights of nobility are intermingled with dark and dismal passages of evil in personal character and tyrannous treatment of those over whom rulers have had power.

The record concerning the kingdoms of Israel and Judah, from which our lessons are taken, reflects only what has been true in the history of other peoples and nations and their rulers.

The Bible consistently represents good rule and righteous conduct as approved by God and as making for social welfare and blessedness among the people, and as consistently it represents evil rulers as departing from the ways and purposes of God and bringing judgment upon themselves and upon their people.

In the broad course of history, the representation of the Bible is true. Sometimes we see a people crushed and broken where some heroic leader or ruler seeks to save his nation from the tyranny of a surrounding or oppressive power; but a history of evil deeds and consequences is usually found back of the situations of distress and trouble in which nations are plunged.

God is on the side of the people. The plans and purposes of God are in harmony with all that makes for good government and human welfare.

Fortunately, in the history of nations there have never been wanting true prophets of God and friends of the people who were ready to speak out against rulers, rebuking them when they did wrong and commending them when they sought to rule with justice and righteousness.

Here in our lessons we have one of these prophets, Azariah, the son of Odeh. We do not know much about him, as we do about some of the other prophets, but the lesson tells us a great deal.

He saw his land given over to idolatrous and evil practices, and he went to meet King Asa, telling him plainly what the conditions were and what was his duty; that God would be with him and give him strength if he was willing to do right.

He appealed to Asa to re-establish law and religion among the people and to save the inhabitants of the country from the conditions of insecurity and violence that confronted them on every hand.

Fortunately, Asa responded to the appeal of Azariah. He found new courage in his own heart, and he led the people into a new covenant of righteousness.

How much we need prophets like Azariah, and political leaders and civil authorities who will respond with courage and sincerity to a like appeal!

The description that Azariah gives of conditions in ancient Judah might almost stand for a portrayal of conditions in some parts of America today.

The masses of our people suffer from poverty and distress. In our cities, and even in rural places since the advent of the automobile and high-power firearms, life and property are insecure.

Desperate criminals who will stop at nothing in attaining their ends have resources of ingenuity and escape denied them in days gone by. Even the arm of the law is not sufficient to cope with these modern evils.

We need an enlightened public conscience, with prophets who can express it and who have power to inspire leaders to a new sense of their duty and their responsibility for those whom they profess to serve.

It is the fact that such lesson, though it was written so long ago, deals so specifically with problems of our own time that makes its study valuable. Let us see to it that its application is not neglected.

PARALYSIS CASES DROP IN COUNTY

With no new cases of infantile paralysis reported in Orange county during the past week, county health officials are hopeful that the crisis has been passed and the spread of the dread disease checked.

Although there are only eight cases now under quarantine, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, explained that he is still asking the cooperation of citizens in avoiding public gatherings and keeping children away from public groups as much as possible. He pointed out that precautions must continue to be exercised.

MARKET CONTEST CLOSES JULY 26

Calling attention to the fact that patrons of the Grand Central market should continue to save Catalina Contest votes for their friends, Manager Jack Boardman said that the contest will not close until July 26 at 6 p. m.

Boardman said that many persons had confused the recent queen contest for the Mid-Summer Motor Pageant with the market competition, and had stopped saving votes when the American Legion queen was chosen last week.

DODGE ANNOUNCES TOURING SEDANS

With seasonal timeliness and meeting a transportation need that assumes greatest urgency during the period of the year in which automobile touring reaches its full vogue, comes the announcement by Dodge Brothers corporation of new, low-priced touring sedans.

The additional cars by which the number of selections available in the 1934 Dodge line is increased to 13—are designed as touring sedans; this name not only distinguishes them from the 10 types already comprising the line, but suggests the important extra functions to which consideration has been given in the design of the bodies.

Come to Church

THE CHURCH HAS SOMETHING FOR

YOU

YOU HAVE SOMETHING FOR THE CHURCH

YOU and the church are interdependent. Without the church, your community would degenerate into a materialistic group of selfish individuals. It is the church that provides a background of ideals, and unity of purpose. The church is at the source of countless benefits that you take for granted and enjoy daily. Without your support, in turn, the church would cease to exist. Your duty to the church, therefore, and to your fellows, yourself and your God, is to give your support by regular attendance. Come to church Sunday.

YOUTHS TO BE SPEAKERS FOR UNION SERVICE

What youth considers to be the message of Jesus to the church or today's affairs, will be presented to the congregation attending tomorrow evening's union church service in the United Presbyterian church by two young speakers, Jack Rimel and Leonard Morris.

Both have appeared previously before local congregations and are said to be able speakers.

"The Message of Jesus to The Church" has been the variation of the general theme, "The Message of Jesus For Today," during the Sunday evening union services to date. "As Youth Sees It," the subject for tomorrow's union service, will conclude that series.

The following Sunday will see the commencement of a new series, "The Message of Jesus About Social Questions," which will be discussed at services until August 5. On August 12, the final series, "The Message of Jesus To Special Groups," will start and continue to the end of the union services September 2.

Lester Rohr will preside over the union service tomorrow evening. Music and ushers will be provided by the host church.

MISSIONARY TO BE SPEAKER AT CHURCH

Miss A. M. Holsted, missionary recently returned from the Philippine Islands, will be the speaker at the evening service tomorrow at the Christian and Missionary Alliance church at Bishop and Cypress streets.

The Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor, issued an invitation to the public to attend the meeting, which will open at 7:30 p. m. Miss Holsted has been working among the Manobo pagan tribes in the Philippine Islands and will tell of her experiences and work there.

REV. SCHROCK BACK FROM CONVENTION

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, returned last evening from Ohio where he had been attending the biennial meeting of the General Council of Congregational and Christian churches. He went as a delegate representing the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers.

The Rev. Mr. Schrock also visited his old home at Ashtabula, Ohio, where he has six brothers and sisters living at the present time. He traveled eastward by auto with Franklin Warner, of Claremont, who has a camp trailer equipped with all the comforts of a Pullman car and which in the opinion of the Santa Ana pastor, provides the easiest and most delightful way to cross the country.

The Rev. Mr. Schrock will occupy his own pulpit tomorrow morning. He will speak upon the subject, "Pioneering, Old and New."

Tallest English Beauty To Wed In Santa Ana Soon

Santa Ana has been chosen as the wedding spot for Andrea Crosby, once acclaimed the tallest and most beautiful girl in the United Kingdom. It became known yesterday when intentions to wed were taken out here by Andrea Crosby, 23, and Hanson (Duck) Hathaway, 35, well known Los Angeles newspaperman.

Five days must elapse before the wedding can be performed, and it is understood the couple will return Tuesday for these rites.

Miss Crosby is from London, and is now on the west coast on a dance tour. At 18 she was heralded as the queen of English dancers, as to beauty and height, and at 19 she was dancing in the ballet of the Vienna light opera, also appearing later at the Berlin state opera, as well as dancing with the Prince of Wales and other European royalty. She specializes in burlesque and eccentric numbers.

Hathaway is engaged in free lance publicity work in Los Angeles at the present time. He is six feet, three inches in height, while his English dancer bride is one-half inch taller.

THE TINYMITES

The bunch heard Mother Hubbard sigh, and to her little dog say, "I am very sorry, Fido, but I have no food for you."

"Just stand right up and look in there. You'll see that my big cupboard's bare. Of course, I know you're hungry, but there's nothing I can do."

The dog just whined and hung his head. Then Scouty to the Tines said, "Gee, here's where we can do an act of kindness, if you're game."

"Now all look in and you will see the dog's as hungry as can be. The poor thing really looks quite sad. I'm mighty glad we came."

"For goodness sakes, what can we do?" asked Doty. "It is up to you to tell what it's all about. Then, maybe we'll agree."

"Well," Scouty said, "we have our beef and it would bring the dog relief. I'll gladly give my share to him. How happy he will be."

"Why, so will I," cried Doty. "You think of the nicest things to do." The other Tines then joined in. "Hurray!" wee Scouty cried.

"Come on, I'm going to knock some more, till someone answers at the door." It wasn't very long until the Tines were inside.

When Mother Hubbard found out what they wanted, she said, "Thanks a lot! This saves the day for my poor dog. I didn't have a cent."

The beef was then tossed to the hound, and while the Tines stood around, old Fido slunk right down, and feasted to his heart's content.

Soon Coppy cried, "Look t'ward the west. With more good fortune we'll be blessed, if what I wish for right now, come true. There's Mother Goose!"

"She's on a goose, and traveling fast. I hope she doesn't sail on past. I'm wishing that she'll land, and tell us something new to do." (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

CITY GOVERNMENT BY AND FOR THE PEOPLE

Statements made by two attorneys in their appeal before the city council against the election of members of the council who have been appointed, that they represented the Chamber of Commerce, puts a strange attitude upon the situation in respect to the position taken by the Chamber of Commerce, in asking for funds from the city.

There are four members of the city council now who have not been elected by the people, but who have been appointed. The Chamber of Commerce is anxious to receive money from the city, and is appealing to them.

One of the members of the city council has presented a resolution that it should be against the policy of the city to make donations of this kind. At the same time, the city attorney has given it as his opinion that the law provides for an election of members of the council who have been appointed, and have never subjected themselves to a vote of the people.

He has declared that the law further states that this election should take place at the first regular election, and he has interpreted this "regular election" to mean the election this fall. These attorneys argued to the city council that this provision of the law did not apply, and that no legal election could be demanded.

They said in so doing they represented the Chamber of Commerce, and had been asked to do it, and were doing it without charging for it. Today the statements are made by the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and his assistant that these men were never asked, and that what they said was untrue.

These men made the statement in public, and we cannot believe that they did so without at least believing that they were requested to do it by the Chamber of Commerce. The explanation may be that someone on the Chamber of Commerce board made this request, without its coming officially, but certainly when they were speaking, they must have believed that they were representing the Chamber of Commerce, or they would not have said so.

Be that as it may, it is a queer combination: the effort being put forth to have the city council change its policy of economy on the one side, and then protect them from the vote of the people on the other.

Election is not necessarily dependent upon this law. If the trustees desire, they can provide for a special election at the time of the primaries or the general election, which would insure that the people would find expression through the election of men to the city council.

We have examined into the law, and the decisions of the courts. While this question itself, on its merits, has never been decided by the supreme court, and one can never declare with certainty, in any case, what a court will decide under such circumstances, we believe the chances are very strong in favor of an election being sustained.

If it should be found that this is not true, then certainly the legislature should remedy the law, because surely it was never intended by any legislative body that the people should be without redress. It was never meant for a city council to be practically appointed, instead of elected, which would be true, if that is the way the law is construed.

People who are interested in having the city governed by men who are responsible to the people themselves, certainly in such a case, would favor a special election if needed, particularly when there was practically no additional cost for it.

THE CASE FOR THE "BRAIN TRUSTERS"

The prejudice which the phrase "brain trusters" has aroused and is arousing in the public mind is quite out of harmony with logical common sense. This is an age of complicated technic. There is no sense in trying to ignore the fact that the specialist is needed, as he never was needed before. Time was when one man could know all there was to know. Today any one man can know relatively little of what there is to know. Now it is a well-recognized fact that just in proportion as a man spreads his knowledge over a wide field and knows about many things he is limited in his knowledge of any one of them. Such a man is most useful. His breadth of vision enables him to know principles by which he can test the activities of the specialists. But because his mind is too taken up with many things he finds it impossible to know the intricate details of technic in any field. The specialist, the man who devotes himself almost exclusively to the study of one subject, accumulates knowledge of the intricacies of that subject.

It is foreign to the nature of a democratic American, as James Truslow Adams has pointed out, to recognize that any man is his peer in knowledge. The people distrust the specialist. As a safeguard, and to comfort ourselves, as we face the rise of the specialist it might be well to study how we can control the specialist by guiding principles.

Although such a hue and cry has been raised over "brain trusters" they are not a novelty in the White House. The Federal Office of Education has reviewed the scholastic records of the nation's presidents and finds that nineteen of the thirty-two were college graduates, six were college presidents and four college professors. In addition to this they have found that many of the presidents have been active in guiding the policies and establishing schools and colleges. George Washington established Alexandria Academy, he was a chancellor at William and Mary

College and a trustee of Washington College at Chestertown, Md. John Adams taught school at Worcester, Mass. Thomas Jefferson was the founder and a rector of the University of Virginia; James Madison and James Monroe served with Jefferson on the board of trustees at the University of Virginia. John Tyler was a rector and chancellor of his alma mater, William and Mary.

Millard Fillmore was the first chancellor of the University of Buffalo; James A. Garfield taught Latin and Greek at Eclectic Institute, now Hiram College and became president of the institute. Later he became a Princeton University lecturer and trustee. Chester A. Arthur taught school at Pownall, Vt. Grover Cleveland and his brother taught at the New York Institution for the Blind. Cleveland was also a trustee of Princeton. William Howard Taft was professor and dean of the University of Cincinnati law department, a trustee of Hampton Institute and Kent Professor of Law at Yale. Woodrow Wilson taught at Bryn Mawr and Wesleyan University before he went to Princeton to teach and to become president of the institution. Calvin Coolidge was a trustee of Amherst.

Since George Washington, "brains," in so far as it is connoted by the man connected with college, has had its place in Washington. The number of college-trained men has greatly increased in the last few decades,—just as the service of the experts has become a necessity. It would actually be difficult today to find many experts who are not or have not been in some way connected with an institution of higher education. The specialist can get his training through experience but college training is useful as a short cut and to augment experience.

The attack being made upon the so-called "brain trusters" is as absurd as the attacks which were made on the first automobile and the first train, and sometime it will be recognized by everyone that they are, unless they are completely forgotten. At present there are those who gain a hearing by assuming the position, practically, that we don't want brains in government.

A VALUABLE PUBLIC SERVANT

In the retirement of Grace Abbott of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, the country loses one of its most kindly and effective public servants. Only the fact that she takes a larger position in the University of Chicago where she is to train just such public servants as she has herself justified her resignation from a post which she has filled with distinction and helpfulness under five presidents.

The welfare of the child is the highest concern of the nation. To conserve and strengthen the oncoming generation is a task than which there is none greater in the nation's life. In the midst of an industrial and economic order which threatens childhood, much wisdom and consecration are needed to conserve the well being of the children of the land. This Miss Abbott has done in the exemplary manner. Her intense interest in children throughout her life confirms the truth that not only through motherhood can woman serve the interests of the child, but even more so in taking all children under her kindly care. It is to the credit of the government that such a faithful servant has been permitted to carry on regardless of political changes. No one person is indispensable in any department of human life and activity. But if any one person is more indispensable to the public service than another, to Miss Abbott must be given that high honor. The country's children have lost a real friend in the public service. This is especially true of the underprivileged children and the children who are the victims of the grinding economic process of our highly-developed industrial age.

Lottery Defeated
Oakland Tribune

Louisiana, home of Huey Long, was once given a bad name because of the old Louisiana Lottery, a private venture which took its gambling profits from the people of many states.

Recently the Southern commonwealth has been talking of a revival of the lottery, under State auspices.

The other day the bill for the new Louisiana Lottery was introduced. Governor Allen and the Administration promptly repudiated it, and there is no chance of its passage. Says the New Orleans Item:

"The Constitution of Louisiana denounces gambling as a vice. Gambling is a vice, and among the more vicious forms of it is the lottery. The reason for this is that the lottery preys on the poor and the ignorant."

"When a lottery is honestly conducted the chance of getting a return from it is very slight. A few large prizes and some smaller ones are a bait by which thousands of ignorant and foolish people are lured for millions of dollars."

Lottery bills are up in some other States. Proprietors who have been citing Louisiana as a State committed to the venture are changing their speeches.

For a Saner Fourth
San Francisco Chronicle

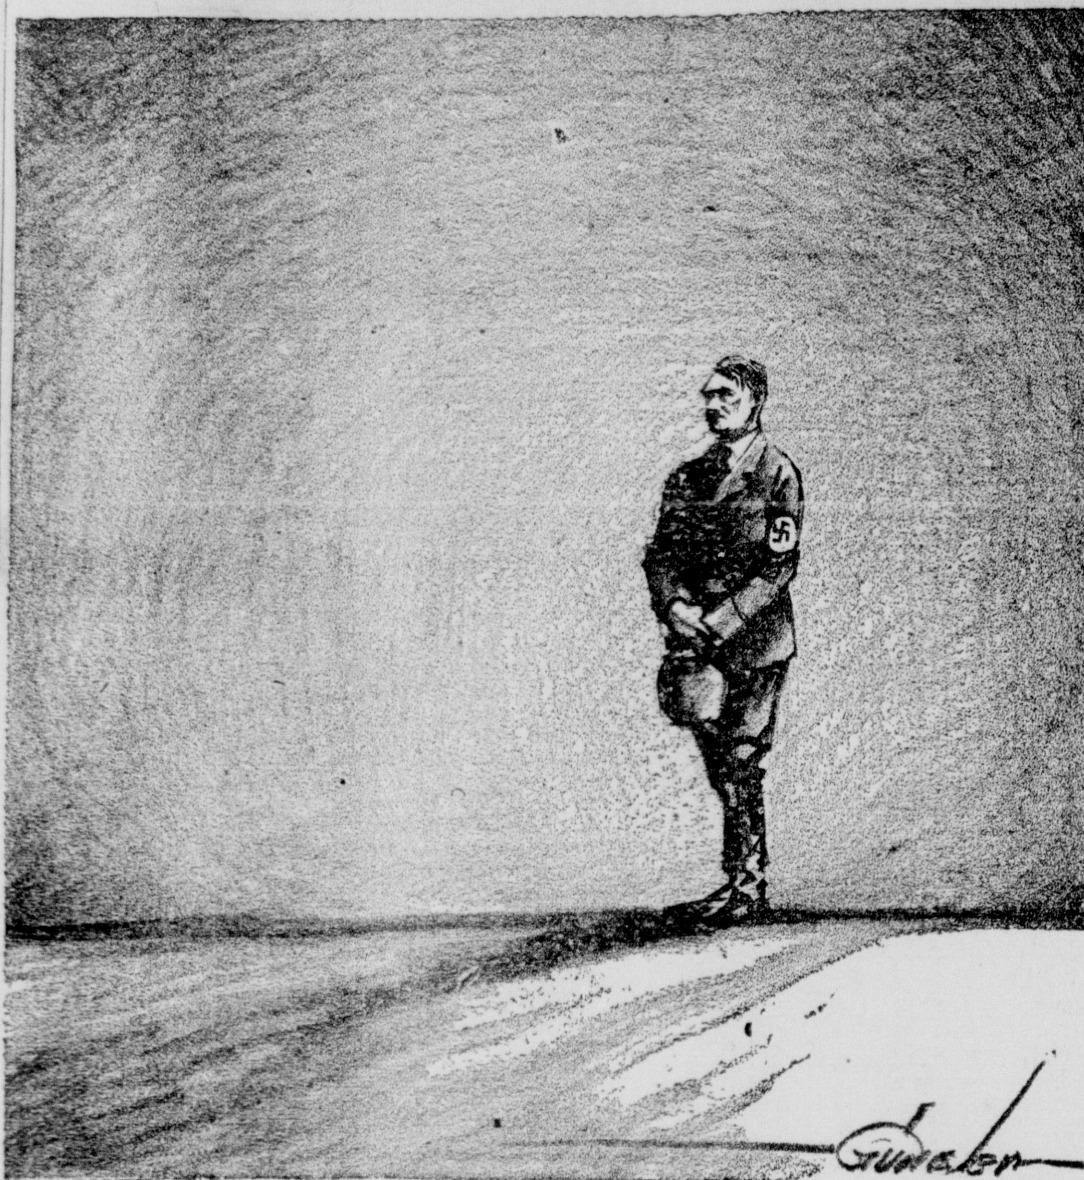

The accident reports for July 4 show that while fireworks have declined as the cause of casualties, other agencies are taking their place.

In contrast with 466 deaths in 1933, largely from fireworks and gunpowder accidents, only one immediate death was reported in the United States due to this cause. Yet there were 115 deaths from other causes connected with the holiday, motor car accidents, airplane crashes, drownings and the like.

Such incidents might be said to be peculiar to no holiday in particular. Yet because of the season in which the Fourth falls, and perhaps some carelessness engendered by enthusiasm for the spirit of the day, the casualty list is a serious high peak in the year.

The campaign for a "safe Fourth" evidently must be extended to fields outside of fireworks and skyrockets.

OVERDOING IT

I am weary of gangsters in "speakeasies"
Who shoot their way out of a jail;
I shudder with fright
When I think that some night
Such a gang may embark on my trail.
For I know that rude gun-toting rascals
Are actually seeking their prey,
And I fear we may meet
On some lonely back street
Where they'll make me their target some day.

The soundtracks I liked were old-timers
Like you caw on the screen long ago.
You never could feel
That these boxes were real.
Or could function outside of a show.
You always were sure when you saw them
That presently something would start.
But your blood never froze
Nor your hair never rose
When looking at good old Bill Hart.

Although sometimes Old Bill played the villain.
He never could wake your alarm;
You felt that a chap
With that kind of a map
Could not wish to do anyone harm.
But these crooks with armed cars and machine guns—
When I see them in "speakeasies" I feel
That some day we shall meet
On a little back street
And that they will turn out to be real.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

A WORD TO THE UTOPIANS

A few weeks ago Owen D. Young delivered a simple but profound address to the graduates of the University of Nebraska.

"The times continue to appeal to the emotion," he said. "Hot hearts burn in sympathy with suffering. Hot heads raise the sledge hammers of destruction in order to have reconstruction. With emotions come adventures. We have too many of them in the world already. The fact that they have a following is a stinging indictment of ourselves."

He was not indicting the spirit of pioneering into new fields either of technical proficiency or social engineering. On the contrary, his whole address was an appeal to us to replace obsolescent social and economic policies with new and better policies as readily as we scrap an old machine when a better one has been invented or is inevitable.

He was speaking of the utter Utopians who go gaily on with their theorizings in blind disregard of the actual factors with which leadership must deal.

And he rightly voiced fear of such extremists, not because he thought they would land us in revolution but because their impracticality would fail to deliver the goods and result in a stupid reaction against all progressive advance.

"Right now, in this country," he said, "I do not fear the extremist because he is likely to carry the American people with him on a rash adventure. They will not go. I fear him only because of that quality of over-reaching enthusiasm which, by inviting reaction, will prevent the sound progress which might otherwise be made. If I know my America, the torch of the revolutionist is not dangerous because it may start a conflagration. It is disheartening because it will inevitably call out the organized fire departments of reaction which, playing as they must without discrimination, may well dampen our advances for another generation."

It may not be without significance that Utopia is a Greek word for Nowhere.

Great leadership dreams its dreams in the world of theory, in Utopia, in the Land of Nowhere. It wants to see principles and values clearly without the fog of warring interests and the dust storms of compromise. But great leadership, when it comes to the formulation of actual programs, takes into account all the facts of the immediate situation, however stubborn these facts may be.

Our supreme need just now is intensely practical action fertilized by the dreams of the Utopians but brought down to earth by the frankest facing of facts.

CHEERFULNESS

A cheerful heart and a smiling face are a benediction to all who feel their warming comforting influence. It is a pity that they are not as common as they might be. It is so easy to get into the habit of complaining. A cloudy day, a twinge in the elbow, an ailing child, a disappointment, an unexpected hitch in the job, and down go the corners of our mouths, a minor note creeps into our voices, melancholy drips from our finger ends. We are sad because we feel the sharp injustice of this world.

As a matter of fact we have no business to feel that way at all. No day passes without some precious gift of happiness. The sun shines and the stars sparkle, just for us. We live in a comfortable house in a happy home. They are ours. We have friends whose affection for us is secure no matter what befall. These are priceless, worth smiling for in the glummiest day.

Suppose we do have a bit of bad luck once in a while. I mean once in a while even if the while has been extending itself lately so that it seems the whole life. Measured against the fortunate times it is not so great as our despondent mood would make it. It will pass. Why not give it a shove along by meeting it philosophically and cheerfully.

One cannot go about singing hymns of joy when one is in pain and fear. But one can turn up the corners of his mouth, take on a cheerful look and make the best of things. Grouching and complaining and weeping won't change things any. People flee from all that. But a hint of courage, a hint of cheerfulness, give out a subtle hint of inner strength that not only braces us but stimulates others. Courage breeds courage. Strength brings strength, and friends and success.

Parents need this spirit of good cheer about as bad as any people can need it. They have to bear up under stress for the children's sake. Mother has to be cheerful to keep father going. Father keeps cheerful so as to keep mother from worrying. Father and mother keep cheerful so as to make the children feel all right. If children begin to worry, and they will if their parents do, they stop eating. They sleep restlessly, they lose power and weight and that vitality that nourishes

S. F. LABOR COUNCIL SEEKS PEACE

Hitler Places Control Of Nation In Trusted Hands

NAZI STORM TROOPS WILL BE REMADE

RUMORS ARE DENIED

Chancellor Seeks to Retrain Party Hot Heads From Attacking Jews

BERLIN, July 7.—(UP)—A far reaching rearrangement of duties and powers of Nazi leaders to center control in a few trusted men, was revealed today as the first aim of Chancellor Adolf Hitler in the second phase of his "third reich."

An important under-the-surface indication was that the Nazis sought a period of peace and quiet during which Hitler and his aides would do their utmost to keep the party hot heads from attacking Jews or other factions except the communists.

All the storm troops are under Viktor Lutze, successor of Ernst Roehm, alleged leader of the revolt that precipitated Germany's bloody week of reprisals.

Kurt Schmitt, minister of economics, has been given dictatorial powers over trade and industry.

Controls Labor

Today Constantin Hierl was given complete control of the important voluntary labor service, which keeps scores of thousands of young men out of possible trouble in the ranks of the unemployed.

This takes the labor army from the jurisdiction of Franz Seidler, minister of labor and leader of the Steel Helmet organization of war veterans which incurred Roehm's wrath by refusing to be absorbed into his storm troops.

Seidler received assurance from Storm Troop Leader Lutze that there would be no more attacks on his war veterans and that he would do his utmost to see that there was co-operation without friction in future.

Lutze, in an interview which, appearing in the Nazi party's official organ, Der Angriff, constituted a formal announcement, said reorganization of the storm troops was absolutely essential.

It was known, of course, that Lutze would reorganize the troops. His statement apparently was intended primarily for the storm troops themselves.

Praises Troopers

He praised the "simple, unknown troopers who never have been given the plot of a few leaders."

He was unable to give details of the proposed reorganization but said reorganization must and would be effected because it was absolutely essential.

Kurt Daluege, new leader of the Berlin-Brandenburg storm troop division, already has been organizing the five "super groups" under his command.

The storm troop part of the reorganization brought to the surface again some of the host of unverified and unverifiable rumors dating back to a week ago today when the Roehm revolt was announced.

One of the rumors was that when Hitler made his raid on Roehm and other suspected leaders at the Wiesse Spa outside of Munich Edmund Helms, a once-trusted leader, tried to fire at him and was stopped only by a bullet from the pistol of one of Hitler's aides.

The story was scouted among well informed people. No one was in position to know except members of Hitler's raiding party, all pledged to secrecy, because those raided are dead.

Figures In Editorial Are Corrected

The editorial of yesterday on the Santa Ana council, referring to the overhauling of the economy program of the former city council, declared:

"The city council, at its first meeting after these appointments were made, showed that economy had gone to the wind. Twenty-eight thousand dollars, in addition to the necessary functions, were added to the obligations of the city."

This should have read $18,000 instead of $28,000; one should be substituted for the two.

GOVERNMENT RENOVIZE DRIVE TO BE OPERATING THIS FALL

FOUR PROPOSED AMENDMENTS ARE OUTLINED

Measures Designed as Aid to Law Enforcement and Drive on Crime

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 7.—(UP)—Four proposed initiative constitutional amendments, designed as an aid to law enforcement and the drive against crime, have been outlined by the California Committee on Better Administration of Law.

The amendments—if their sponsors obtain the necessary signatures—will add to the growing list of initiative measures which will appear on the November ballot.

They propose to make more stringent the selection of judges, increase the scope of the attorney general's office, permit judges and district attorneys to comment upon the failure of a defendant to testify, and permit a defendant to plead as to his guilt before a committing magistrate.

Objects of the amendments would be to speed court procedure and eliminate as much as possible politics from the courtroom.

Under terms of the proposals justices of the supreme court district courts of appeal and superior courts would be required to file declarations of candidacy "within 30 days before the 15th day of August next preceding the expiration of his term."

In the event of a vacancy, the governor could appoint a successor only upon approval of a majority of three officials—chief justice of the supreme court, presiding justice of the appellate court, and the attorney general.

Powers of the attorney general would be broadened to bring about uniform enforcement of law throughout the state. He would

VETERAN ACTORS OF SCREEN ARE CALLED

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—The ranks of the veteran motion picture actors were reduced by two today as old-timers of the screen mourned the deaths of Alec B. Francis, 65, character actor, and Harry Pollard, 55, pioneer actor and director.

Francis died in Hollywood hospital after an emergency operation climaxed a three-day illness. His widow, Mrs. Lucy Francis, was at his side.

His most recent picture was "The Green Hat," in which Constantine Bennett and Herbert Marshall had leading roles.

Pollard, like Francis, was a pioneer in film work and also remained active almost until his death.

He was born in Republic City, Kansas, in 1879. Two brothers, Horace Pollard of Fresno, and W. H. Pollard of Oakland, and a sister, Mrs. W. H. Lane of Oakland, survive him.

CALIFORNIA TOWN IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

SONORA, Calif., July 7.—(UP)—Fire which started in a woodshed destroyed half the town of Sonora, a small lumber camp near here, according to reports of state forestry officials who returned from helping direct the fighting of flames.

Two companies of C. C. C. youths joined Standard business men and other residents in attempting to check flames which destroyed 20 frame buildings and eight automobiles before spreading into the forest. The houses were owned by a lumber company.

Fire in the town was controlled by nightfall, but continued advancing in the forest during the night.

TRIAL ON MAIL FRAUD CHARGES IS CONTINUED

Swindle Victims Will Be Called to Stand Monday in New York

NEW YORK, July 7.—(UP)—A parade of swindle victims who lost betting on the races, using stock market "tips," on negotiating to sell property to imaginary buyers will continue Monday when the government resumes its case against James C. McKay and William J. Graham of Reno, accused of mail fraud.

The government, seeking to depict the activities of an organized swindling ring which operated throughout the United States and Canada, connected McKay with the ring for the first time yesterday.

Allister Forbes, a portly, wealthy, erbeaten ranch owner of Victoria, B. C., testified McKay was "manager" of the Riverside bank in Reno which arranged for the transfer of his money from Vancouver in a deal which resulted in his being swindled out of $30,000.

Forbes was one of 42 victims who lost a total of more than $1,000,000, according to the indictment.

Forbes told how he went to Seattle, Wash., then to Portland, Ore., and then to Reno after being given to understand that Samuel Goldwyn, movie magnate, was interested in purchasing his ranch. Joe S. Lamont, alleged member of the ring, who posed as Goldwyn's agent, had no connection with the movie magnate, it was disclosed later.

Efforts of Henry Taaffe, San Francisco attorney defending the two Reno men, to shake Forbes' identification of McKay as the supposed bank "manager" were unsuccessful. Forbes said he was positive.

Two other victims testified yesterday. Mrs. Mayne C. Staley, formerly of Cleveland, completed her testimony about the loss of $41,000 which she started at Thursday's session of the trial. She asserted John J. Egerton of Worcester, Mass., was the man who represented himself to be C. F. Parker, and cross examination failed to shake her.

The other witness was David Diamond, of Los Angeles, who identified Noble John Moore, another alleged member of the gang, as the "James Burton" he met while touring Yellowstone.

BUDGE UPSETS U. S. CLAY COURT CHAMP

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—In one of the greatest upsets in clay court tennis history, Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif., took a five-set battle from Frankie Parker, defending champion from Milwaukee, and went into the final of the National championship tournament this afternoon. The scores were 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0, 9-7.

In the other semifinal, Bryan (Betsy) Grant of Atlanta turned back Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

NEW CABINET IN JAPAN IS NAMED TODAY

More Important Members of Deposed Government Retained by Okada

TOKYO, July 7.—(UP)—Japan's "big navy" premier, Kieseuke Okada, tentatively completed selection of his cabinet today.

The new government succeeded that of Viscount Makoda. Saito, which resigned ostensibly because of a financial scandal involving one of its subordinates. Failure to heed demands of militarist factions, however, was understood to be the unofficial cause of the fall of Saito's "super party" cabinet.

In his cabinet Admiral Okada retained many of the more important members of the deposed Saito government. They included minister of war, navy, foreign affairs, and home affairs.

Admiral Okada will assume the post of overseas minister as well as the premiership. However, it was understood the overseas ministry soon would be abolished partly due to restriction of immigration to Brazil.

Other tentative selections followed: Foreign minister—K. Hirota, who held the same post in Saito cabinet.

Navy—Admiral Mineo Osumi, also a Saito minister.

War—General Senjuro Hayashi, Saito cabinet member.

Justice—Naoshi Ohara, former chief justice Japanese appeal courts.

KATHERINE HEPBURN GETS NEW CONTRACT

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—Katherine Hepburn, sensational socialite film star, today looked forward to a profitable and definite future on the screen as a result of a contract which will bring her $50,000 a production for six pictures in the next two years.

"The Little Minister" probably will be her first production under the new contract. "The Forsyte Saga" will follow, and possibly "Joan of Arc." She remains with the same studio that has been producing her current pictures.

Effective Stand For Taxpayers

We want to thank the public of Santa Ana for the many expressions of approval which have come to us, by telephone, personal call, and by letter, commending our editorial last night against private organizations receiving donations from public tax money.

It is gratifying to know that the real, substantial taxpayers of Santa Ana are with us in our position that tax money, forced from the people, shall not be handed over for use by any private group.

But we would emphasize the fact that taxpayers can take a more effective stand in their own behalf by talking to the city councilmen than to us. They have the power to spend city tax money and they are the ones who should understand clearly the taxpayers' wishes.

Call up, or talk to Mr. LeGaye, as we have done, and congratulate him on his contention in behalf of taxpayers that tax money should be used only for necessary public business. He will be glad to hear from you and know that he has the backing of the people.

Also, talk to the other four councilmen, Messrs. Warner, Penn, Bruns, and Rowland, and let them know how you, as a taxpayer, feel about raids on the treasury by organized minorities, and that you will support them in passage of the resolution presented by Mr. LeGaye which comes up for action Monday night.

And then, demonstrate with your presence at the city council meeting Monday night, and possibly by oral expression, your desire that only necessary functions of government shall be carried out by use of public tax money.

Expressions of commendation for our tax economy program to the Register are very pleasant and gratifying.

To be effective, however, these expressions should go direct to the five councilmen who have been entrusted with the responsibilities of our city government, and who are now making up the budget for the coming year.

Home Owner Loans Soon Available

James A. Moffett Arrives in Washington and Opens Headquarters

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(UP)—James A. Moffett, former Standard Oil company executive, arrived here today, planning to put 5,000,000 men to work as part of the government's program to encourage home owners to modernize their houses and start a flow of private capital into the building industry.

Moffett set up temporary quarters at the White House and held his first press conference in the office of Marvin McIntyre, President Roosevelt's secretary.

He estimated that in less than 30 days he would be prepared to start money flowing to home owners for renovation work. Other phases of the housing program such as the mortgage insurance and mortgage association provisions, will be started later, he said.

Moffett has not yet selected the personnel who will assist him. He estimated he would require a staff of 250 here and would call upon other agencies of the government to assist in directing work undertaken in the various states.

"By fall, I hope to have started $500,000,000 toward renovation work," he said.

Conferences with industrial leaders and bankers have resulted in almost unanimous opinion that the housing plan is sound and has "great possibilities," he said.

"It's rather a difficult job," he said, smiling, "and it's different from any job I've had before. I guess I'll have to start work all over again."

GRAPE GROWERS OF SOUTHLAND AGREE

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—An orderly market was sponsored today by concord grape growers of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Orange and Los Angeles counties after meeting here before the California agricultural prorate commission.

The growers advocated prorating control of 210 acres of the total of 235 acres, devoted to Concord grape production in the four counties. The commission announced it would pass on the request at a meeting in Sacramento, July 17.

UNITED STATES BLUEJACKETS BATTLE FRENCH ON RIVIERA OVER REMARKS ON WAR DEBT

NICE, FRANCE, July 7.—(UP)—United States naval men some of whom did some enthusiastic fist-fighting and generally got into difficulties on the Riviera last night were severely lectured in salty phrases today and then permitted shore leave until 9 p. m. curfew.

Two of the 20 American seamen presented to a group of seamen and one of them said: "Take it off the war debt."

The fight was on. Today the thousands of American flags which greeted the ships' crews on their arrival were withdrawn in token of the town's anger.

The ships, taking midshipmen from the Annapolis naval academy on their annual cruise, are on a good will tour in a sense, but the will of residents of Nice, outraged by the worst naval rioting they ever saw, was so bad to

1934 CAMPAIGN OPENED TODAY BY G. O. P. BOSS

Henry Fletcher Makes His First Major Address Since Election

JACKSON, Mich., July 7.—(UP)—Henry P. Fletcher, Republican generalissimo, officially opened the party's 1934 campaign today, picturing the present administration as a meddlesome dictatorship congressmen.

Fletcher's first major address since election as chairman of the Republican national committee, as prepared for delivery, asked how any one can regard the party now in power as "Democratic."

"It has gone completely new deal," he told 50,000 Michigan Republicans who were rally officials opened the 1934 campaign.

Fletcher described the national government as a "vast network and maze of bureaucratic agencies," by means of which, he said, the president is administering power and authority comparable only to that of Hitler and Mussolini.

Congress, he said, has abdicated and become a mere parliament, on the old French model, "to register the decrees of the crown."

"Russian Model"

"Clothed with unprecedented authority, the president has in turn delegated the control of the livelihood, business and property of the individual American citizens to a vast maze of theorizing, meddling, directing, spending, lending and borrowing agencies, lettered on the Russian model."

All previous administrations, Democratic as well as Republican, have supported, defended, even revered the constitution, he said, and then added:

"It remained for the present administration to take the first steps to emasculate it; to attempt to destroy the faith of the American people in their free institutions and in the constitutional establishment by the constitution to protect and preserve their individual right and liberties."

"I believe that the government, by tampering with our currency, by destroying confidence, by stopping the flow of capital into industry, by the hundred and one measures of interference and control of industry and agriculture, not only has delayed the return to sound economic principles and conditions in this country but has

FOUR STAKE LIVES IN SCIENCE TESTS

CANON CITY, Colo., July 7.—(UP)—Two more life termers of the Colorado penitentiary soon will stake their lives against freedom in the role of "human Guinea pigs" when they submit their bodies to scientific experiments designed to test a tuberculosis preventive serum.

Carl Erickson, 62, convicted murderer, and Mike Schmidt, 52, convicted of criminal assault upon his daughter, already have been given the first serum and then injections of tuberculosis germs.

Gov. Edwin C. Johnson announced yesterday he will select soon two more life termers with outstanding prison records to be given an opportunity to serve as "scientific testing grounds" for the serum.

EAST SWELTERS AS NORTHWEST DONS TOPCOATS

Five Reported Dead as Result of Storms Which Sweep Mid-west

CHICAGO, July 7.—(UP)—Temperatures sank to below freezing in the northwest today in the wake of storms which killed five people, while New York and the eastern seaboard sweltered in the seventeenth day of a record heat wave.

Topcoats were comfortable in Des Moines, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago. The Central park observatory in New York recorded 130 degrees on a thermometer placed in the sun.

In North Dakota the mercury dropped below the freezing point. In Minnesota, Montana and South Dakota it hovered around 40 degrees. Chicago expected a maximum temperature of around 63 degrees today.

Two persons, one in Chicago and another in Tarnov, Neb., were killed by lightning. A man was killed by a board ripped from his home by a small tornado at Roseland, Neb., and a woman and a small boy were crushed by falling trees in Detroit.

The mercury stayed high in the 70s throughout the night in New York. Officially the metropolis' maximum temperature yesterday was 92.1 degrees at 5 p. m. but unofficial thermometers went many degrees higher.

Washington showed an official maximum of 96 degrees. At Cleveland it was 92 and in Detroit, 94.

106 degrees was recorded in San Antonio and 98 in El Paso, Phoenix, Ariz., was the nation's hottest spot, officially, at 106 degrees.

"It remained for the present administration to take the first steps to emasculate it; to attempt to destroy the faith of the American people in their free institutions and in the constitutional establishment by the constitution to protect and preserve their individual right and liberties."

CHARLES RAY AND WIFE ARE BANKRUPT

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—The separation of Charles Ray, film actor, and his wife, Clara Grant Ray, was revealed today in a joint bankruptcy petition which listed separate addresses for the couple.

Mrs. Ray admitted the estrangement, declaring they agreed to live apart last year. She termed the separation "friendly." They were married November 6, 1915.

The voluntary petitions in bankruptcy listed Mrs. Ray's debts as $29,397 as against $400 in assets. Her husband listed liabilities of $29,294 and assets at $850.

Present circumstances do not justify any interference with or discouragement to normal business and recreation, Cummings reported.

He said there was less reason for persons contemplating travel to California for revising their itinerary than if a similar number of cases had been reported in another year.

MEETING ON SUNDAY MAY HALT STRIKE

Threat of General Strike However Still Strong as Troops Keep Order

SITUATION IS QUIET

Committee Named to Meet With Federal Mediators and Striking Dockmen

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—(UP)—The Central Labor Council of San Francisco today took a hand in the attempts to settle labor troubles here which have blocked shipping and for a week kept the city in a turmoil of rioting.

A "strategy committee" authorized by the council last night and appointed today indicated that instead of joining the movement for a general strike, as advocated by extremist leaders, it would attempt a settlement by peaceable means.

Although the threat of a general strike remained real, the attitude of the labor council was reassuring to the city.

Uncertainty Exists

Many unions will send delegates tomorrow to a meeting to consider the proposal for a general strike. Strong sentiment for such a strike was expressed by the carmen's union composed of employees of the Market street railway. The butchers union on the other hand, reportedly was opposed to a strike.

Uncertainty existed as to the attitude of the teamsters, one of the strongest in the city. It was understood that a considerable "left wing" element was active in that union and the conservative leaders were having difficulty holding the men in line.

Quiet prevailed in the marine strike situation. Strike leaders devoted themselves to promotion of plans for a sympathetic walkout of other workers.

State militia continued to patrol the waterfront.

Edward A. Vandeleur, president of the San Francisco labor council, appointed the following as a committee on strategy:

Name Committee
Dan P. Haggerty, former president.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived here today as the guest of President and Mrs. Frank M. Vevy, of the University of Kentucky.

WATER GROUPS IN CONFERENCE ON PROCEDURE

Only one of the major water companies of Orange county stands in the way of a completely united front on the proposed water program for the county with the view of securing government aid on a water development and flood control program along the Santa Ana river system. It appeared today following a conference of 25 major water interests of the county in Anaheim last night.

All those who spoke at the meeting, with the exception of H. H. Hale, of the Anaheim Union Water company, expressed a desire to unite on a water program to secure government aid. It was understood. Newspapersmen were barred from the session which was called by the water committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, about one-third of those present from Santa Ana were M. N. Thompson, Orange county flood control engineer, City Engineer J. L. McGee, Mayor E. G. Warner, C. H. Chapman, Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg and George A. Raymer, secretary of the Associated.

No one present at the invitational affair was empowered by the organization they represented to take any action regarding the water program, it was said. There was no objection to the Elliott plan. It was stated, except as voiced by Hale.

Plan Evolved
Out of the meeting came a plan to present resolutions to all water interests in the county endorsing the action of the board of supervisors of Orange county in submitting the basic Elliott plan to Francis C. Elliott, president of the Riverside Water company and the Water Conservation association who is representative on the permanent projects committee of the government National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

Cutler's attitude toward Orange county was made evident in a recent letter to the board of supervisors in which he said that he could not approve of the basic Elliott plan as submitted to him unless the entire county was in agreement and the Riverside board of supervisors approved the plan. He informed the board that he had not forwarded the project to Washington, as the Orange county supervisors had expected him to do as a representative of the government, in order to keep Orange county's plan in the favorable position it now occupies in the government program.

The resolution will include the suggestion that any complications be worked out locally. Delegates from the water interests will present the resolution to the boards of directors and will report back at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Makes Demands
Hale, it was said, demanded that a canal with a capacity of 200 second feet be constructed from the dam at the upper Prado site, which is recommended in the Elliott plan, to the headwaters of the water companies and that the water companies be allowed to go above the dam to pump water they need if not enough comes down the canal.

In reply to a statement made by Hale, a statement considered significant was said to have been made by James Irvine, who pointed out that the water companies would meet problems involved on the same basis as other interests in the county, and should not demand a guarantee of water if the supply becomes depleted to the detriment of the balance of the county. Mr. Irvine expressed en-

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 7. (To the Editor of The Register.) All I know is just what little I see in the papers. See today where Mr. Roosevelt is putting a "blab" (you know what a blab is? It's a thing you put over a calf's mouth to keep it from eating between meals.) Well, he is putting a "blab" on these so-called "officials" who are making speeches around the country trying to tell what the New Deal has in mind. He has informed 'em. "You go ahead and deal, and shut up about it. A dealer is not supposed to entertain along with his dealing." So the next time you hear a fellow speaking for the White House, you just holler "Yeah!"

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Completion of the cabinet was delayed because of wrangling between party factions over representation in the government.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS JAIL TERM

Manuel Arciniega, who pleaded guilty to driving drunk when he appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday afternoon, escaped the rule of that jurist that all automobiles of drunk drivers shall be impounded.

Arciniega had no automobile. He was driving the car of a relative when arrested on the drunk driving charge on Katella road June 17.

The court sentenced him to six months in the county jail and cancelled his driving license permanently.

His willingness to work with the rest of the county on a united plan. It is understood that Hale threatened to submit to the government the old Bailey plan, which calls for a dam at the lower Sulphur Slides site and which would have cost the county $16,500,000 had not voters turned thumbs down on the proposition. If the water company demands for a canal and a guarantee of water are not met.

Compare Acreage
The question was raised as to why the water companies should be assured a permanent water supply at the expense of all the rest of the county. The two major water companies furnish water to 2500 acres in a county of 510,000 acres, of which 150,000 acres is irrigated by the Santa Ana river.

It is estimated that the water companies control about 16 per cent of the irrigated land. A resolution was adopted at the meeting, it was understood, which urged the board of supervisors of Orange county, the Orange County Water District and Water Incorporated of Orange County in the development of a plan to secure competent engineering, legal and financial advice and report as to the feasibility of Mojave river water importation into this section.

Three points are to be investigated, it was said, (1) full consideration of the quantity of water reasonably available from the Mojave river, (2) cost of construction of necessary works, and (3) method and approximate cost of securing necessary water rights.

complicated and confused our entire political and economic situation.

Fletcher warned against costs of the "New Deal." "The party recognizes," he said, "that in times of stress and depression, no one in this land should be permitted to suffer from want. But the squandering of the nation's capital through wasteful current expenditures surely does not make for permanent relief and recovery, which alone can secure steady employment and progress."

"When we insist on a return to the sound principles of democracy we are not to be understood as preaching the doctrine of stand-patism."

"We recognize that the government should and must prevent private enterprise from running amuck."

"We recognize that many industries are affected by public service, and have a public duty which they should not be allowed to disregard."

"We believe that standards of common honesty and decency can be maintained under the law by industry itself, without regimentation and state direction."

"We believe that the processes of democracy are adequate to meet changing conditions and that Republicans are not necessarily static."

"We do not believe that the national wealth and well-being of the whole people can be increased by restricting production and by causing an artificial and unnatural scarcity."

"We want fewer get-rich-quick Wallingfords and more editions and we think we can have all these things without a cowardly surrender of Democratic principles."

"I propose in due course to set up committees of the most competent men we can find to make a study of current economic questions, so that their reports may furnish the basis of a constructive and forward-looking Republican legislative program."

W. C. George of the Shell Oil company defended the company union plan at yesterday's conference. George said the plan has been applied in his company more than 12 years and has been satisfactory. Many Shell employees are receiving higher pay than that provided by the oil code, the speaker said. He said the employees maintain a council, tantamount to a union, which annually meets with department heads to discuss wages and working conditions.

Declares Lawyers Incorrect; Fails To Submit Proof

Following last night of the appearance of Attorneys Otto Jacobs and Charles Swanner at the budget meeting of the city council Thursday night, when the attorneys declared they were there at the request of a group of business men and chamber of commerce representatives who had previously appeared at the meeting to seek a grant of $4250 from city tax funds, A. He was advised that if he would bring a formal statement to the effect that the statements of the attorneys were not true, The Register would be glad to print it. Starts in Cafe

The big fight started at the Cafe de Paris. It was crowded with seamen from the two warships. Somebody mentioned warships, and somebody else mentioned the high cost of living in France. The seamen were paid yesterday, and were ready to spend but thought the prices too high.

In a few minutes there was general fighting. Street crowds joined the French side and the Americans barricaded themselves behind the cafe door.

Fights broke out in other bars and cafes when the seamen began wrecking furniture and smashing glassware, claiming they were being cheated.

Reports of the rioting reached the ships, and patrols of seamen led by officers were sent ashore to round up the celebrants. The French thought they were reinforcements and began attacking them. Several officers received black eyes.

The patrols halted the fights in the cafes and arrested 40 rioting seamen.

The incidents occurred while the Riviera generally was looking forward with pleasure to the ships' visit. Night clubs at Juan les Pins last night even suspended the gigolos for the duration of the visit so that the crew would have no competition. The gigolos demanded full pay for the period of suspension, threatening to call a strike of all Riviera gigolos.

HITLER PLANS TO REORGANIZE STORM TROOPS

There was also the factor that, for propaganda purposes, nothing would have been more valuable to Hitler than a statement that Heines or anyone else had tried to assassinate him.

Many Rumors
There were other rumors of similar nature, which responsible sources have denied as soon as asked about them. One was that Goebbels met with an "accident" yesterday. Another was that Hitler's motor car was fired on. A third was that there was a fist fight at the Wiessee road.

There were stories also that disaffected storm troops were going through the Wedding district of Berlin, demanding revenge for the killing of Roehm.

After the clarity with which Nazi methods were revealed during the last few days, investigation seemed to disclose conclusive evidence that this report also was untrue.

TOOTH TOPICS BY DR. CLARK

TOOTH DECAY

Each individual tooth is a distinct anatomical organ, set in the jaw (alveolus). The root portion of the tooth, a bone-like substance (cementum) is inclosed in a tough, fibrous sac (periapical membrane) by which it is attached to the bone. The portion of the tooth above the gums is covered by the enamel, a hard flint-like substance; underneath the enamel is the dentine, more porous and more like bone. Through the center of the tooth is the pulp, commonly called the "Nerve," consisting of minute blood vessels and a nerve filament. These emerge from the end of the root and join larger nerves leading to the brain and blood vessels leading to larger veins and arteries, thence to the heart.

Authorities differ greatly on the cause of Dental Caries (decay). Some attribute it to acid forming bacteria which dissolve the lime or calcium portion of the enamel and thus open the way for other bacteria to attack the softer dentine, others claim that it is due to faulty diet, lacking insufficient calcium salts to resist attack, others claim that it is a natural process of elimination, and that in the dim future, due to advanced civilization and change of dietary habits, the human race will eventually have no teeth. They will have no evident function and will go the way of the appendix and the tonsils.

FRUIT THIEVES STOPPED WHEN OFFICERS FIRE

A volley of gunfire by Los Angeles sheriff's deputies early today ended the reign of an alleged gang of orange and avocado thieves who, according to officers, have been raiding groves in the La Habra district.

All the suspects were from Los Angeles and will be turned over to the Orange County sheriff's office Monday for prosecution. It was announced by the Los Angeles officers. It is possible that the men will be faced with charges from both counties, since it is understood that they have been operating on both sides of the line.

The conviction of E. G. Minneman, Santa Ana cafe man, of operating a saloon at 115 1-2 North Main street, Santa Ana, which Minneman appealed from Santa Ana police court, was upheld in a decision rendered today by Superior Judge H. G. Ames. Judge Ames affirmed the jury verdict of the lower court, and rejected Minneman's contention that the evidence did not support the verdict. Two witnesses, it appeared, had testified that they were served beer without meals. Judge Ames' opinion today stated that "it may be true that the place of business maintained by the defendant of the old time saloon, but the purpose of the liquor control act is apparently to prohibit sale of intoxicants on the premises except when served with bona fide meals."

IZ ZAT SO?

By STRIPPED BARE (Not Bugs Nor Max)

It was council meeting night, and all was quiet, all over the house. Just like the night before Christmas. In fact, it was the night before Christmas for the old political crowd. A new Santa Claus was about to be born.

They looked in, lean and hungry. It had been a long fast. "Wasn't the depression awful," one growled to another. "But winter is going. The NRA will put us in the money again, Ted."

"Ah-h-h. In the money. That listens good," murmured George. "But what do you mean, NRA?" he asked, puzzled. "Where do you get that stuff, Bill?"

"N. R. A.? Oh, that means New Raids Allowed. If you know what I mean," Bill repeated, "I know what you mean," affirmed George, with a gleam in his eye. "I'd like to send that guy LeGage to China," he added thoughtfully.

Meanwhile, Witmer and LeGage were discussing with Burns and Warner the idea of getting another good watchdog on the colic. They were suddenly interrupted.

A door opened and a long, bony finger was thrust in. It bent at the middle joint, and the end of it wagged. Wagged imperatively. Warner turned slightly pale, got up and marched out through the door like a chocolate soldier.

A little later he was back in his seat, perspiring slightly. He nudged Burns. "That was Bill," he whispered huskily. "He says he's holding everything until Bill Penn gets back from vacation. Then we can swing it our way—I mean Bill's way." Burns nodded obediently.

"And Burns had promised to vote against N. R. A. If we put him on the council," LeGage muttered, wearily. "Well, murmured Witmer, 'I suppose he's wondering what you are yelling about. It isn't your money he's going to spend. At least not much of it.'"

A wild laugh rang out from the group of spectators. One was seen to double up and jump his knees. "Ho, ho!" he chorled, peering out through the door. "Take off them whiskers, Bill Jerome. I know you."

This spectator was a dull fellow. He had been late with his recognition. Practically everybody else there knew who was outside the door. That is, they knew who would be outside of the door, naturally, with the grand opening of the city treasury in sight.

Anyway, several of them, passing the council room at the four o'clock "preview" meeting that afternoon had seen Messrs. Jerome, Stephenson and Raymer on the receiving line for the new council, and had heard the familiar strains of "Hail, hail, the gang's all here."

And the gang, gentlemen, is all here. It won't be long now.

THREE HURT IN WRECK; DRUNK DRIVER SOUGHT

Three persons were hurt and an alleged drunken hit-and-run driver is being sought as the result of two wrecks in Orange county last night.

Louis Van Cleave, Huntington Beach, received a broken knee cap at 7 o'clock when his car was struck by a speeding hit and run car at Main street and Huntington Beach boulevard in Huntington Beach. The other driver had been drinking and was guilty of improper passing, violation of the right of way, failure to make a boulevard stop and driving on the wrong side of the road, according to official reports. Van Cleave was treated at the Huntington Beach Emergency hospital.

Marjorie McCall, 29, 304 North Olive street, Orange, and Billie Collar, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Collar, Tustin, were taken to the Orange County hospital for emergency treatment last evening when cars driven by Miss McCall and Collar collided in Orange.

DOUBLE EXECUTION FIRST IN HISTORY

FLORENCE, Arizona, July 7.—(UP)—To the three of prayers and the walls of 16 members of their immediate family, two Mexican youths, their hands clasped in a final brotherly farewell, went to death yesterday in Arizona's lethal gas chamber in the first double execution of its kind.

Earlier the mother and father of the boys and 14 brothers and sisters had taken part in a final supper with the condemned youths inside the prison walls.

After this farewell meeting the family retired to the lawn outside the prison where throughout the night they prayed for the lives of Manuel and Fred Hernandez, 19 and 18.

They still were at their prayers when the youths, always affectionate toward each other, went to death strapped side by side in the tiny execution room.

EQUIPMENT FOR GAMBLING NOT TO BE RELEASED

Although defendants arrested on gambling charges in a raid by Orange county authorities on the gambling ship Monte Carlo, off Seal Beach, several months ago, have been acquitted of charges brought against them in Los Angeles county, following their acquittal also in Orange county courts, the gambling equipment of the ship will not be relinquished to the owners until the courts so order.

This attitude was expressed today by the district attorney's office where it was declared that the acquittal of the defendants arrested in the raid had no bearing, from the viewpoint of the office, upon the right of the authorities to seize and confiscate the gambling equipment, which was admitted in court to have been used for gambling purposes.

That admission, however, did not come at the trial of the defendants on gambling charges, but at a hearing before Superior Judge H. G. Ames here, in connection with an effort made by the ship owners to recover their equipment from Sheriff Jackson. The ship owners contended that, although the equipment was being used for gambling, Orange county had no jurisdiction over it, as the ship was anchored outside of the three-mile limit. After taking evidence on the latter point, Judge Ames ruled that the ship was within the three-mile limit and that the county did have jurisdiction. He refused to order return of the equipment.

Since that time, a jury in Seal Beach justice court acquitted the defendants of gambling charges, and they also were acquitted in Los Angeles county this week, of charges that they conspired to order return of the equipment.

"Nevertheless, the sheriff still is holding their equipment and we will fight any attempt to recover it," the district attorney said.

ULTIMATUM ON LAW VIOLATIONS DELIVERED

Sheriff Logan Jackson delivered an ultimatum today to gambling interests wishing to operate in Seal Beach and elsewhere in the county, to the effect that he would use his men to "clean up" coast cities of vice and gambling.

In a telephonic conversation today with Chief R. L. Howard of Seal Beach, Jackson said that gambling must stop in Seal Beach, and he would throw his deputies into the fight at once.

When Howard professed ignorance of who was in charge of gambling activities, he was told by Jackson to do some investigating at once and let it be known that gambling was at an end in the city.

Howard said that the gambling establishments were not operating now, following the revelation of conditions by The Register in a recent series of articles.

Jackson said that if the police departments were not competent or willing to enforce the laws against gambling, he would take charge to stamp out the evil.

DEATH CLAIMS AGED MOTHER OF FORMER PASTOR

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hostetter, 1321 Orange avenue, today were advised of the death last night in San Diego of Mrs. Hostetter's grandmother, Mrs. Abigail Porter, well known in this city where she made her home with the family of her son, the Rev. F. T. Porter during the latter's long pastorate of the First Christian church.

Her death occurred in the family home, 1267 Hendricks street, San Diego. The Rev. Mr. Porter is pastor of the University Christian church in that city, and funeral services will be conducted in that church Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Following Monday's funeral rites, the Rev. Mr. Porter will accompany her body back to the family home at Borden, Ind., where she will rest in the family burial ground with her husband and six children.

Surviving relatives are two sons, the Rev. F. T. Porter of San Diego and Claude Porter of Bloomington, Ind.; a son-in-law, Ben Seifert, New Albany, Ind.; five grandchildren, Glen Porter of Sellersburg, and Gerald Porter of New Albany, Ind.; Merrill Porter, Lorene Porter Nash, of Los Angeles, and Pauline Porter Hostetter of Santa Ana, and a great-granddaughter, Maralee Joanne Hostetter, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hostetter.

"Mother" Porter had been ill for the past 10 days. It is believed that her death was due directly to injuries sustained three years ago when the family was living in Los Angeles. An unknown assailant entered the house one night when other members of the family were absent, and brutally beat the aged woman.

OLDSMOBILE SALES JUMP OVER NATION

"Oldsmobile retail sales for the year up to and including June 30 are 36 per cent greater than for the same period last year," according to Knox Brothers, Oldsmobile, Cadillac and La Salle dealers, at Sixth and Sycamore streets.

In spite of the fact that our plant is operating on a double shift and daily production is running at a new high peak, we are considerably behind on unfilled dealer car orders. Reports from our dealers throughout the country indicate that there is no apparent slackening in the public demand for the Oldsmobile six and eight." It was said.

SURVEY SHOWS BUSINESS SATISFACTORY

OPEN OFFICE FOR LOANS TO INDUSTRY HERE

Business activity in Southern California during June remained about the same as in preceding months, according to the monthly summary of business conditions compiled and published by the Security-First National bank.

Although retail trade in Los Angeles during the month was of smaller volume than in May, the decline was not as extensive as is usual at this season. Merchants in suburban and rural communities, on the other hand, transacted considerably more business in June of this year than in the same period in 1933 and made a fair showing in contrast with May, the review states, continuing in part as follows:

"Bank deposits extended their upward trend in June while credit conditions continued to improve. The turnover of bank deposits, as reflected by debits to individual accounts, was larger in June than in May, contrary to the usual downward movement at this season. Demand deposits of Los Angeles banks expanded to a new high level for the recovery period during the four weeks ended June 20, apparently as a result of United States government payments to individuals and corporations in excess of the amounts collected from them. The volume of time deposits also showed considerable growth.

"Unusually hot weather throughout the Middle West increased the demand for California oranges and lemons during June above expectations and resulted in spectacular advances in prices. The advance of Valencia orange prices to the highest level of the usually prosperous year of 1930 was the outstanding feature of the agricultural situation during June. The delicious fruit outlook for the state as a whole is good although unfavorable climatic conditions resulted in a very short crop in the southern counties. Unless unexpected developments alter the situation, the agricultural income of the state will be materially larger this year than last."

Editor, Santa Ana Register—

Sir: To me one of the most interesting articles that has appeared in the Register for some time came to my attention in an issue of last week.

The article to which I refer was signed "An Interested Student of the Liquor Question." The article was of especial interest to me because about two weeks previous I had made the same suggestion to a local group and found it provocative of much comment. I acquainted me with the fact that my idea was not an original one, it did strengthen my conviction that the solution of this age-old problem would come in some such manner.

My idea and also the one to which I refer was briefly that the government handle all the processes in connection with the manufacture and distribution of intoxicating liquors. These processes would include all importations and all operations from the raw product stage to the consumer. The government policy to be the selling of this product at exact cost.

A casual perusal of this plan as sketched in this brief outline might fail to catch one's attention, but a thoughtful person would bring out many salient points.

Two points in the matter that are glaringly clear are, first, how much law enforcement would be necessary to completely banish all bootlegging if the government were selling the finest product available at cost, (use your own judgment), another point equally important is that the full truth of this whole business, its true effects on the human system will never really be publicly known so long as any one or group of people are getting a profit from it.

Regardless of one's opinion as to the extent to which our government should project itself into active business—I personally feel there are certain products which we as citizens demand the elimination of private profit. I have in mind these three major products, first, "intoxicating liquors," second, "narcotics and drugs," I fail to see at this time why the remedy for the liquor problem would not apply in this case also, and product number three is that of firearms and ammunition with a greatly improved method or system of regulation regarding their sale, what a decline in wars and rumors of wars this world would have if all the profits could be taken out of even the arms and ammunition end of the business.

While the ideas herein expressed are still in an embryonic stage, the general idea as set forth could be made a national policy if enough people agreed, as a straw vote I would be most interested to know what you my fellow-readers think of this matter.

I am trying to make myself believe that I am still living in a country that could exist even should it be deprived of all revenue from this traffic.

I feel its unemployed problem might still be solved even though the government advertise to us that it would be best for us to refrain as much as possible from buying its product. Even though at all times the best qualities of liquors were at all times available what a different picture to Ameri-

Marking the first actual step taken in Orange county toward obtaining federal loans to aid industrial concerns, it was learned today that Secretary George A. Raymer of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has been named by RFC officials in Los Angeles as the agent for the county to receive applications for the loans.

Raymer now has government application blanks in his office in the courthouse annex for industrial concerns which desire the federal loans. He conferred yesterday in Los Angeles with Charles Corbin Bowen, of Washington, D. C., industrial representative of the RFC, and with T. C. Scroggs, district RFC manager, concerning the program for Orange county.

Some time ago Raymer received a telegram from John L. Perkins, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, asking how much new credit was needed in Orange county for the purpose of providing working capital for established industries. In an answering telegram, Raymer said that about $600,000 is needed here for the purposes outlined.

For the purpose of maintaining and increasing the employment of labor, the RFC will make loans, when adequately secured, to industry, directly or in cooperation with Federal Reserve banks or other banks or lending institutions or by the purchase of participations in loans made by banks or others, to aid in the expansion of industrial concerns.

Such loans may be made only when deemed to offer reasonable assurance of continued or increased employment of labor. The maturity of the loan must not exceed five years. Interest will be at prevailing bank rates for the character of loan applied for. Loans will be made primarily to supply needed working capital, such as for payment of labor and the purchase of materials. In general, loans will not be made when the proceeds are to be used to pay existing indebtedness.

An incidental portion of the loans may, under certain circumstances, be applied to the payment of taxes on properties which are necessary to the operation of the business. In general loans will not be made when the proceeds are to be used primarily to finance new construction.

Under exceptional circumstances, loans may be made to contractors for working capital, provided that satisfactory arrangements have been made to finance the entire cost of the project which the contractor has been engaged to construct.

Each applicant must execute a certificate that it is complying with the provisions of the act, and with the approved code of fair competition for his branch of trade, or if there is none, with the president's re-employment agreement.

Father joined son in the county jail last night when Frank Talamantes, 41, El Modena, was booked on an indictment for possession of an automatic pistol.

Constable George Bartley of Orange, arrested another Frank Talamantes on Thursday for assault with a deadly weapon but this was an 18-year-old youth, the son of the man booked last night.

The boy will have his preliminary hearing on July 12 at 2 p. m. in Orange on the assault charge, which grew out of a fight in El Modena on Thursday.

Another man was booked for drunkenness last night at the jail. Ernest W. Danielson, 48, living at the Finley hotel, was arrested at Fourth and French streets by Officer Harry Prichard.

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon following an alleged free-for-all fight at El Modena yesterday, Frank Talamantes, 18, El Modena youth, was arraigned in the Orange justice court yesterday and had his preliminary hearing set for July 12 at 2 p. m.

Talamantes was arrested Thursday afternoon by Constable George Bartley on a complaint secured by Seufelino Taberna, of El Modena. He was booked at the jail and is being held under $1500 bond set by Judge A. W. Swayze.

Dr. Cash is alleged by R. R. Burns to have treated his dog and then refused to deliver the animal, which was valued at $150. Dr. Cash contends that Burns failed to pay for the dog bill at the conclusion of the treatment.

Can youth would be presented to them if this change can be made. Orange county should certainly feel congratulated on the fact of having its largest newspaper one on which we look with pride because of its stand and support on these questions.

CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENTS FOR YEAR IN GAIN

ORANGE, July 7.—Valencia orange shipments through Sunkist associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange up to July 1 were 755 cars in excess of shipments for the same period last year, it was disclosed today in the report of Manager Clarence E. Skiles.

Shipments prior to July 1 this year totaled 1824 cars, as compared with 1069 cars for the same period last year.

June shipments aggregated 1217 cars of fruit, of which 69 cars were sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant and 1148 cars were moved to domestic and export markets, the report showed.

June lemon shipments amounted to 186 cars, bringing the total lemon shipments to date to 470 cars on shipments to date to 470 cars.

The market on California lemons is holding firm, to somewhat stronger in the east, in the view of Exchange officials.

The stabilization of values, bringing greatly increased returns to citrus growers of the county, is attributed in a large measure to the program of the California-Arizona pro-rate committee.

"The Valencia market during the past two weeks has undergone a downward adjustment in prices," an Exchange statement said. "Due to the somewhat lower price level there has been a marked increase in activity in many of the smaller markets that were almost forced to discontinue handling oranges while prices ruled at the higher levels, thus giving the necessary wider distribution and greater volume of crop movement. It seems reasonable to expect that about present values will be maintained under full control and orderly movement of the crop."

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallon

ROD'S SURRENDER

Henry Ford's surrender to the NRA was announced here a few days ago, but it stood up for only one edition of the afternoon newspapers. Then Ford heard about it.

The announcement was valid, all right. It came officially from the NRA headquarters, and from no less an authority than General Johnson, himself. Apparently, the only thing wrong with it was that Ford had not yet been consulted.

Here is what happened:

A Ford dealer here has been for a long time the innocent bystander who was continually getting shot in the row between Ford and Johnson. This dealer has been barred from the War department and other contracts because of Ford's failure to sign up with the NRA. It does not mean much to Ford's volume of business, but it means a lot to the dealer.

The War department sympathized with the dealer's position, and recently joined with him in an effort to straighten things out.

SCHEME

Assistant War Secretary Woodring and other war officials consulted with the dealer. They worked out an idea for a compromise.

This compromise was to be in the form of a letter from Ford to the dealer stating that he (Ford) had complied with NRA rules and would continue to do so. The letter was drawn up on the stationery of the dealer and addressed to him with the signature blank. It was to be sent out to Ford later for signature.

It seemed to be a perfectly good idea because Ford has complied with most NRA requirements and exceeded them in some instances.

ERROR

Of course, Woodring had to get Johnson's approval on the letter before it could be sent to Ford. The War department Samaritan took the letter over to the General. Johnson suggested a few changes in wording, but generally approved. He agreed that the letter would constitute compliance with the NRA, permitting the Ford Dealer to bid on the Government purchases.

Until then, everything was perfect. After that, nothing was. Johnson almost immediately called in newsmen and informed them that the NRA's foremost antagonist had "surrendered." That would have been a bad word to use even if the deal had gone through, but you can imagine how it struck Mr. Ford when he read it in the papers. Surrender, eh?

Woodring wept. He told his associates: "Johnson has been so indiscreet, I am afraid the whole thing is spoiled."

Johnson's office explained that the General thought the letter from Ford was real, that it already had been signed by Ford. It was too late then for explanations to do any good.

WHITE LIE

The State department went to unusual lengths on the inside to keep the Japanese from getting excited about the expedition of army and navy bombers to Alaska.

The Japanese know very well what we are sending the bombers up there for, but in diplomacy, it is considered best to tell a polite lie even when everyone knows you are lying.

At first, it was planned to announce the excursion as a long-distance test flight. That was rather feeble, so the master diplomatic minds decided to bolster it by calling the trip a goodwill flight to Canada. That had some foundation because the planes are to stop at one or two points in Canada.

The Canadians, however, did not care much for it. Just as the announcement was being mimeographed in the War department, word came from Canadians to leave them out of it. The goodwill angle, therefore, was stricken out.

SHOUT

There is really no sensible reason why we could not shout from the housetops what the bombers are up to. They are going to photograph Alaska from the air with a view to determining the best available spots for defense works in case of trouble in the Pacific.

ORDER

Wall street insiders report there is scarcely a brokerage account on the street now which does not comply with the provisions of the New Control Act. At least, that is true of all accounts handled by the reputable concerns. Furthermore, there is scarcely a broker who does not have his affairs in such shape that he can meet any expected regulations from the new commission. That is why prices have held up fairly well.

BRAINS

Prof. John Williams of Harvard is heading a secret commission of Brain Trusters to South America. They are to reorganize the finances of one or two countries down there with the unofficial sanction of the State department. Although no announcement will be made about it.

OMISSION

Some observers noted that chairman Fletcher of the Republican Committee did not mention the Ford case in his criticism of the NRA, but centered his attack around the Harriman Mills resistance. No one knows why.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

MEAT

Despite advance reports you could have knocked Wall Street over with a feather when Joseph P. Kennedy was chosen for the S. E. C.

Not that the boys object. But Kennedy has often been referred to in informed circles as one of the dozen biggest operators in the Street. He is independently wealthy and his associations with Henry Mason Day and Charles M. Schwab (the latter during the war) rank him in Grade A speculative society. Also he was at one time office manager for the important firm of Hayden Stone.

He certainly knows what it's all about but comment runs that a little like naming a lion to regulate the meat diet of his fellow carnivores.

There's no question of Kennedy's sincerity or good faith but New York is busy dishing the angles. Political features come in for animated but cool discussion.

Apart from his personal friends for the President, Kennedy is on excellent terms with son James—which is supposed to count. Farley also urged the appointment. And of course local cynics dwell caressingly on Kennedy's contribution to the Roosevelt campaign fund and the fact that the Democratic National Committee still owes him money.

More charitable observers remark that Kennedy will be outnumbered four to one by the "liberal" element on the commission—so he could hardly put much sand in regulation's gears even if he so minded—while his first-hand knowledge of market mechanics should come in handy. He is not an Exchange man in the strict sense. In general his selection is taken by local big timers to mean that regulation will be realistic but not punitive—which comforts them.

OTHERS

The appointments of James M. Landis, George C. Matthews and Ferdinand Pecora had been discounted well in advance. Wall Street accepts them as rulers with neither enthusiasm nor alarm. It's understood that at least they have no yen to destroy what's left of the securities business.

Robert E. Healy is thoroughly unpopular in utility circles. As counsel for the Federal Trade Commission he acquired the knack of conducting penetrating and sometimes embarrassing probes. Listed corporations are a mite uneasy about his passion for elaborate reports but hope his colleagues will keep him from running amuck in that direction.

Well-posted insiders say that Landis will boss the works even though Kennedy has been named official chairman. That means rigorous penalties for funny business but all cards face up on the table from the word go.

New Yorkers who don't like the New Deal have an attentive eye on the S. E. C.'s own selection of its subordinate staff. Reports are freely current in influential quarters that political considerations will play a prominent part. Local Republican circles are set to raise a lusty claim of foul if this happens.

SAFE

Wall Street professionals have been figuring they had until October for a final fling but now appear doomed to sad disillusion. Insiders got word that one of S. E. C.'s first official acts will be to bespeak immediate compliance from all concerned. While it's true the Commission couldn't do much about it at present, if anyone disregarded their plea they could make life plenty uncomfortable for such dissidents later. So—except for plans to laugh off the law via Canada or London—most of the boys will play it safe from now on no matter how it hurts their feelings and pocket-books.

TOGETHER

New York sharps say there's more than meets the eye in the choice of James A. Moffett as Housing Administrator. Moffett's ready acceptance of New Deal principles for the oil industry caused a breach between him and Walter Teagle and separated him from his job with Standard of New Jersey. He got his reward with Standard of California. Now he draws a key post with the government in a field that's strange to him.

How come? Because the housing program must have hearty cooperation from private industry to succeed and Moffett—aside from being a skilled organizer—has personal contacts with big business that should be valuable. Comment runs that it doesn't matter whether he knows a shingle from a door-knob if he can only figure a way to get producers and consumers together.

FORD

The impending love feast between Henry Ford and General Johnson wasn't Henry's idea—although the overtures came from the motor company. New Yorkers who know Ford say he was that stubborn he didn't care if he ever sold a car to the government. But his dealers weren't so thick-skinned about it. They wanted their share of government cream and kept pestering Henry until he saw things their way. It's rather novel for Ford to be paying any attention to dealers' wishes but times have changed.

Insiders state that Ford is personally no fonder of the Blue Eagle than he used to be and that its absence hasn't cramped his sales to the public. Final settlement of the year-old argument will be a compromise. Ford already complies with most auto

Row With Vaughan Cost Gibson Post As Buc Pilot

NEWS NOTES FROM BIG TENT

BY DICK FARRINGTON

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—"Pie" Traynor, manager of the Pirates, is not one of the bobbies off the bat. The new manager of the Pirates is permitting the boys to hit without taking their intelligence from the coaching box on every pitch. But what he has done to bring Larry French around is one of those clubhouse secrets. George Gibson's real trouble started when he and "Arky" Vaughan duelled with verbal swords not so long ago. Vaughan will hunt in Mexico this fall with Ernie Ott. "Chick" Hefey, "Red" Kress and Larry French. Old Jack Quinn is keeping young by pitching for a Chicago semi-pro team. Recently he chalked up his third straight win by hurling a 1 to 0 shut-out of the better outfields of the Windy City. Now a rival team is trying to enlist "Red" Faber for a game against Quinn sometime this month. Several big league clubs which passed up a chance to get Curt Davis at a bargain last summer now wish they had him. The Phils got Curt from San Francisco for the draft price of $7500. After he had consistently earned a chance in the majors with good records for several seasons. Charley Grimm went to the Century of Progress Exposition recently and somebody got his hand in the manager's pocket by mistake, extracting eight bucks. Charley evidently has not been keeping up with the progress of the times. They call Bill Terry the "Man Who Walks Alone," but he has been getting along pretty well. A fan approached "Daddy" Vance at his hotel in St. Louis and asked him what time the game started. "I couldn't tell you," answered Hermit of Hammes, "because I never start any games." June O'Dea, otherwise Mrs. Vernon Gomez, chews the thumbs out of her white gloves every time she watches Lefty pitch for the Yankees. Johnny Babich, the new Brooklyn pitcher from the Pacific Coast league, is of Austrian extraction, both of his parents having been born in that country. Johnny's natal place was Albion, Cal., a lumber town. After Johnny Broaca of the Yanks had fanned five times in a game last week, Gomez consoled him. "Never mind that, Johnny, I didn't hit well either my first season in the majors," said Lefty. Lloyd Waner, Pirates, and Hughie Critz, Giants, a couple of National league welterweights, have been carrying on a private home run feud for four seasons. In 1931, Hughey kidded Little Poison about his power at the plate and the upshot was a stand-

STARS PUMMEL CITY LEAGUE'S TEAM, 10 TO 1

Pomelling three pitchers for a mass production of 18 baseballs, the Stars routed their City League brethren, 10-1, in an all-Santa Ana exhibition scuffle at the Municipal Bowl last night. Pick of the talent on eight clubs, the City leaguers proved no match for the National league representatives. The Stars got three runs in the first inning off young Nelson Bates, six in two frames off "Baldy" Foltz, and added another off Lloyd Lichtenwaler in the seventh. Lichtenwaler, ace of the trio, was most effective, allowing one run and four hits in his three-inning workout. Jim Coates and Wilbur Stinchfield toiled for the Stars. Coates hauled shutout ball in six. Stinchfield traveled the final three, fanning seven but giving up the only run the National leaguers allowed when Lichtenwaler singled in the seventh and tallied on a triple by his battermate, Gibson. Conrad opened the Stars' first rally with an infield bingle. DeBusk sacrificed, and was safe on Head's error at first base. Preble scored both runners with a single past second, and came home himself on Daley's out and Young's double. Hits by Wilcox, Cole, DeBusk and Ballard gave the Stars two in the fourth, the first which Foltz worked. The little Commercial bank submariner ran into more trouble in the fifth. Daley singled, Young and Wilcox doubled, Coates singled and so did DeBusk, this disturbance netting four runs. Preble's pass, bunts by Daley and Young, and a passed ball accounted for the last Star run in the sixth. It came off Lichtenwaler.

The swollen knuckles on "Dizzy" Dean's pitching hand last week came about through a friendly scuffle with "Pepper" Martin. At about the same time Sam Bredon was wearing a slightly discolored eye, giving rise to ugly rumors. Now it is the fellowing with a youngster when the heel of the lad's shoe contacted his orb. Lew Fonseca shipped his son, Junior, nine years old, all the way from Chicago to San Francisco by plane last week. He was said to be the youngest passenger ever to make such a trip unaccompanied. Mrs. Casey Stengel does not know it, but the Dodgers regard her as a jinx. She joined Casey in St. Louis and during the seven days she was with the club up to the finale in Chicago, when she went back to the Pacific Coast, the Brooklyn team lost seven straight games.

SERIES FEUD RENEWED

NORTH WANTED OPPOSITION-- BUT NOT REDS, S. C. OR CAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—This is a story of how "Tiny" Thornhill of Stanford called the "bluff" of Northwest football coaches in the last Pacific Coast conference meeting at Portland. In the coaches' meeting, representatives of Northwest colleges talked long about how hard it was to arrange games with Stanford, California and U. S. C. That was time for Thornhill, who does little worrying about his schedule, to raise the ante. "All right," began Thornhill, in his drawl, "we have a date open for any of you. Between the Santa Clara and U. S. C. games on our schedule we have an open date. You'll admit the Broncos are tough. As I understand it Washington State, which has raised a fuss about not being able to get on California's schedule this fall, has an open date that day. So has Oregon. Now Babe Hollingberry and Prince Callison, do you want to play us that day?" Before either had a chance to answer such a brazen reply to their complaints, Howard Jones, the "head man" of U. S. C., spoke up. "If Stanford wants to take on a tough opponent just before it plays us, we'll also put a Northwest team on our schedule for that date." No one took the offer. Evidently the Northwest schools want to play, but they're not willing to go as far as Stanford, California or U. S. C. and "play them as they come." For a time it appeared that a six-game conference schedule might be arranged. But not when Jones and Thornhill decided to give them a wide-open spot.

TENNIS

Arranged in groups of ten, Santa Ana's leading tennis players begin play Monday in the eleventh annual city round-robin tournament with Lewis Wetherell, the defending champion, a topheavy favorite in Class A. Six matches are scheduled for opening day. Competition will continue on the Frances Willard courts daily for about a month. The tournament will be conducted under the auspices of the Santa Ana Tennis club, Frank Bettis, president. The club's committee put contestants in the following divisions: Class A—Lewis Wetherell, Toby White, Orris Davis, Arno Finster, Marjorie Landersbach, Mildred Ward, Kenneth Raney, Eddie West, Don Park and Jim Smalley; Class B—Carson Smith, Wayne Moon, Roy Willis, Theron Willis, Frank Bettis, Ernest Zimmerman, Harry Nissley, Gordon Davis, Ray J. Lewis, Howard Moore; Class C—George Randall, Les Boyle, Dr. Kenneth Coulson, Bob Blakemore, Marvin Jacobs, Hugh Lowe, Bob Marshall, Carl Aubrey, Keeton and Lever. "The management urgently requests the co-operation of all players," said Bettis. "The committee realizes the impossibility of drawing a schedule that will fit perfectly with the individual programs of thirty players. However, there is a considerable amount of work connected with the draw, and to change it materially is an endless task which an overworked committee must not undertake. So if players find it impossible to play when specified, they will arrange their matches at a time mutually convenient and when they will not interfere with the regular program. They must be duly reported to the committee." Notices of coming matches will be published by The Register every Saturday. The first week's schedule follows: Monday—Marshall vs. Blakemore, 2 p. m.; Moore vs. Nissley, 4 p. m.; Smith vs. Moon, 4:30 p. m.; Lewis vs. Zimmerman, 4:30 p. m.; G. Davis vs. Bettis, 4:45 p. m.; R. # Princeton's Crew Beaten In Cup Race

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., July 7.—(UP)—The Leander varsity crew today defeated Princeton's eight by three-quarters of a length in the final race for the Henley Grand Challenge Cup final. Princeton, stroking a fast 40 led at the start but Leander quickly raised its boat and was leading after the half-mile mark was passed. Princeton made a sprint at the mile mark, gaining rapidly as Leander shot over the finish line a winner.

CRONIN, TERRY PICK ALL-STAR GAME LINEUPS

BY THEON WRIGHT (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, July 7.—Carl Hubbell, the Ozark orichalc, vs. Vernon Medwick, the goofy senior from San Francisco. There you have it. The people's choices have been nominated by "Memphis Bill" Terry and Joseph Edward Cronin, rival bosses in the big league all-star altercation at the Polo Grounds July 10. However, they appear to be the only people's choices they chose in the more controversial positions, according to the starting lineups announced today. Cronin, American league manager, compromised with fans on third base, where he wants Frank Higgins of the Athletics and the public wants Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, by naming Higgins. He compromised the Simmons-Averill dispute over center field the same way.

Fans' Choices Ignored The pitching staff will prove equally unfamiliar to the boys who sent in votes. They hung up quite a majority for Whitehill, Hudlin and Grove. Cronin scarcely heard the uproar; he picked Ruffing, Russell and Harder. Terry larded his selections in the National league list with a bit of diplomacy. He sprinkled the word "or" quite liberally, listing Klein "or Medwick" and Ott "or Cuyler." However, it is to be assumed both Medwick and Klein will not play left field, so the good public may expect to see the team take the field with Ott, whom they did not want so badly, and Ted Medwick, whom they wanted very badly. The Giant boss relented on Travis Jackson, the public's man, in place of "Arky" Vaughan at short. It is quite likely that the spectacle of Gomez, the great fireball ace of the Yankees coming to grips with Carl Hubbell, rangy Giant pitcher, will thrill the public to the point where they will forget that some of their other pet notions were passed around like boarding house splinch.

Here Are Lineups Following are the official lineups with batting averages of games up to yesterday and games won and lost for pitchers: American League Gehrig, Detroit, .26 (382) Manush, Washington, .47 (402) Ruth, New York, .47 (291) Gehrig, New York, .46 (359) Higgins, Philadelphia, .36 (355) Simmons, Chicago, .43 (343) Cronin, Washington, .43 (283) Gomez, New York, .43 (282) Frisch, St. Louis, .36 (310) Traynor, Pittsburgh, .36 (352) Klein, Chicago, .47 (316) Ott, New York, .47 (344) Berger, Boston, .47 (316) Terry, New York, .46 (358) Jackson, New York, .43 (287) Hartnett, Chicago, .43 (322) Hubbell, New York, .43 (12-5)

12 SPEEDING YACHTS REVIVE HAWAII RACE LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(UP)—Twelve trim yachts raced westward over the Pacific today on a 2200-mile trip to Honolulu, reviving the old trans-Pacific race held but twice in the last 25 years. A crew of Honolulu sailors, their own boat out of commission as the result of a collision, are among the twelve in Common Sense III, lent them by Max Walsh, San Pedro boatman. This craft, with a veteran weatherbeaten voyager of the South Sea, Frank Ekman, at the helm, took the lead as the fleet started on its long race, while Fandango, 80-foot giant among the entries, had trouble with its gear starting and was next to last. Among the various crew are a retired steel magnate, H. T. Horton; a retired college professor, S. I. Miller and C. E. Hoffman, retired Pasadena, Cal., businessman.

Herrera Decisions Villa At Stadium

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—Tony Herrera, 136, El Paso, Tex., was awarded a ten-round decision over Manuel Panchito Villa, 136, Mexico City, in a slow fight last night at Hollywood Legion stadium. Both fighters started poorly and never were able to set a pace to the liking of the crowd. The Texan made his best showing in the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds.

Santa Anita Nine Meets Carmelita

Santa Anita's baseball team travels to Carmelita tomorrow for a spicing league baseball game at 2:15 p. m. The clubs met once before this season, Santa Anita winning, 2-0. Shepherd or Fariss will pitch for Santa Anita, with B. Koral catching. Alcantara at first base, Farley second, Munoz third, J. Koral short, and Friend, Maldonado and Fredericks in the outfield.

LOTT, STOELEN ANNEX DOUBLES AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, England, July 7.—(UP)—Dorothy Round of England today captured the All-England women's singles tennis title, defeating Helen Jacobs of California, the American champion, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

Miss Round succeeded Mrs. Helen Willis Moody of California as the Wimbledon champion. The Californian was the favorite but Miss Round played more steady tennis and nearly decided the issue in straight sets. The crowd of more than 20,000 cheered Miss Round wildly. Her victory, following Fred Perry's triumph in the men's singles, gave England both of the two major titles for the first time since 1909. Line Decisions Inevitable

Miss Round played a sound game and unquestionably would have won anyway but the Californian was the victim of several seemingly inexcusable line decisions.

George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stoecken of Los Angeles captured the men's doubles title, defeating the defending champions, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon of France, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

The Americans were warmly applauded by the great crowd which cheered Lott for his breathless volleys and Stoecken for his blasting smashes and untouchable service shots. Borotra's overhead game was badly off. The Americans fed him lob after lob and he outed most of them.

The contest was held up for a few minutes while Miss Round was presented to the King and Queen in the royal box.

Stoecken Brilliant The Americans made Borotra and Brugnon look like novices in the third set. Stoecken, who had been the weaker member of the partnership, was especially brilliant.

The title-holding women's tennis tandem of Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, and Mme. Rene Mathieu of France, smashed through to a two-straight sets victory in the finals. They proved too fast and accurate for Dorothy. Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France.

The scores were 6-3, 5-2. The heat was terrific. Miss Andrus was badly off her game, particularly at the net where she missed repeatedly.

Miss Round and R. Miki of Japan defeated H. W. "Dorothy" Andrus and D. C. Shepherd-Barron of England, in the mixed doubles, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0.

SANTA ANA POLOISTS TO PLAY FULLERTON

Polo teams representing Santa Ana and Fullerton battle at El Rodeo club in Placentia Sunday, at 2:30 p. m. in a benefit match for the Mills college alumnae of Orange county.

This will be an eight-chukker affair, with Ray Campbell in the referee's saddle. Santa Ana will lineup with Captain Edward Hall at No. 1, Al La Rue at No. 2, Edward Evitts at No. 3, and either Donald Young or Edward Farnsworth Jr. at No. 4. Fullerton will start with Captain A. D. Moody, No. 1; Frank Lipscombe, No. 2; Dr. E. J. Steen, No. 3, and Gold Landauer, No. 4.

Thomas Winning Streak Snapped; Stars Lead Race

(By United Press) Hollywood rode the insecure crest of Pacific Coast league leadership by the margin of a half-game today after another page of upsets in second half play was written Friday night.

The San Francisco Seals, who clung to the top rung for only one day, were in second place, Los Angeles and the once lowly Seattle club were tied for third, Sacramento and the Missions were tied for fourth with a .500 average. It all happened when Hollywood beat Sacramento 4 to 2, Portland beat San Francisco 2 to 1, Seattle won over Los Angeles 12 to 9, and Flesion stopped Oakland, 9 to 0. It was Seattle's fourth consecutive victory over the first-half winners. The surprising Indians ruined Fay Thomas' chance to tie a Coast league record that has stood since 1909. Thomas had won 15 games for the Angels without a break. The record for consecutive pitching wins is 16, established 25 years ago by Frank Browning of San Francisco. J. Millard Campbell replaced Thomas as the Indians scored seven runs in the fifth inning.

'CARNERA ROBBED OF TITLE'

DECISION CALLED FANTASTIC

BY HENRY M'LEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—"Primo Carnera still is heavyweight champion of the world." "Carnera was robbed of his title by some fantastic American boxing laws." "Baer undoubtedly is the finest wrestler ever to hold the boxing championship." These are a few of the opinions expressed by England's leading fight critics after a showing here of the pictures of the fight in Madison Square Garden bowl. All of the experts admitted they were absolutely bewildered by the decision which gave Max Baer the title.

The flash written by Frank Waters, and splashed all over the front page of the Daily Express, is typical of the British critics. Listen to Waters: "I have just seen the Carnera-Baer world title fight film. "Every boxing critic in London who has seen the film is dumfounded by the decision which gave Baer the title. "Baer won the first and eleventh rounds. "Otherwise he gained scarcely a point.

"Nine rounds Carnera won by clean, decisive boxing. "For nine rounds his mechanical piston-like left knocked the conceit off Baer's face. But although Carnera outboxed his opponent and hit him whenever he wanted, he did not seem to hurt him. "Carnera's blows never ruffled Baer's hair, though he appeared to

ALICE MARBLE OFF COURT INDEFINITELY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—(UP)—Alice Marble, young San Francisco member of the American Wightman Cup tennis team, who collapsed during a match at Paris six months or a year, she said today. Miss Marble suffers from pleurisy. She returned yesterday for a complete rest.

INJURED KNEE MAY END LAZZERI CAREER

NEW YORK, July 7.—One of the most brilliant careers in baseball may be halted by an injured knee. The future of Tony Lazzeri, Yankees' second sacker, rests on whether a floating cartilage can be snapped back into place. According to Manager Joe McCarthy, an attempt soon will be made to do this, and to drain water off the knee. If this is not successful, Lazzeri will have to undergo an operation similar to that which fixed up the notorious knee of Travis Jackson, Giants, infielder.

DID YOU KNOW THAT--

Remember "Ping" Bodie, the old White Sox, Yankee and Athletics outfielder? He was an electrician for a movie studio in Hollywood. . . . and still is hitting homers—for the studio team. . . . Lawson Robertson, Penn track coach who piloted the U. S. Olympic teams in 1924-28-32, is first in line for the job in 1936. . . . Reggie McNamara now has 106 six-day bike races behind him. . . . The string was started 26 years ago. . . . Dumb Dan Morgan, Giants' southern show fight character who led Jack Britton to a world championship, has a son coming up in the ring. . . . And he's destined to rule the light-heavies some day, Dan says. . . . Col. E. R. Bradley has a 2-year-old in Black Helen who is 1935 Kentucky Derby material. . . . The filly has won all the three races she has run in this year. . . . Pictures of that "most valuable" trophy presented to Carl Hubbell, Giants' southpaw, show that the sculptor made a mistake. The trophy is a model of a right-handed pitcher.

IS BAER REALLY GOOD?

All the old-timers are not yet ready to admit Max Baer to the haloed group that includes Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson, Dempsey and Tunney. Most of them always were reluctant to take a newcomer into the charmed circle. Even the great Dempsey was denied entrance for a time by some.

Jack's supposed lack of defense was stressed for a while, or until he convinced the more hard-bitten skeptics that his dynamic attack left little need for one. And in the Gibbons engagement, the Manassa Man proved that he was far from being a poor fighter.

In doing a series of stories four winters ago I asked a score or more of former fistful luminaries to name the greatest fighter they had ever seen. With one exception, the reply was "Dempsey." "Picture Baer pasting Corbett or Tunney with a right-hand lead, which is with what he scored the first and most important knockdown in the first round of the Carnera fight," says Bobby Cunningham, ham, who as a bantam battled Sammy Kelly with skin gloves in the first contest held in a padded ring in this country, at Coney Island in 1892.

Kelly, who died not long ago, broke Tunney into the back-busting business. Cunningham now is a judge and timekeeper on the list of the New York boxing commission.

AN OLD SHARKEY CUSTOM

That was the trouble with Sharkey. The bob overhanging sloughed off golden opportunities with a bobble of some kind or other. No fighting man stumbled on the threshold of success oftener than the Lithuanian.

There was something lacking in Sharkey's fighting makeup. Yet his artistry in the ring and his vocal accomplishments, out of it, combined to make him the third biggest money earner in the history of the ring. He had more chances than a wayward son of the rich.

But professional boxing is fortunate that the Schmeling, Sharkey and Carnera have run their courses. They were misfits, when one comes down to cases.

And in addition to having proved himself an all-wool-and-a-yard-wide champion, Baer will stir up more excitement outside the ring than there has been since the Boston Strong Boy was boasting that he could lick any man in the house and they were shaking the hand that shook the hand of John L. Sullivan.

Finals in all events of the Orange County Public Parks tournament will be decided on the Willard courts here Sunday, with winners qualifying for Southern California sectional matches in Los Angeles later this month.

Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana and Boots Kilson of Anaheim clash at 9:30 a. m. for the men's singles title. Mildred Ward of Santa Ana and Melva Roquet of Anaheim go on at 10:45 a. m. in the women's singles final. Men's and mixed doubles follow at 2:45 p. m.

SEAL BEACH TO HAVE FLOAT IN LIGHTS EVENT

SEAL BEACH, July 7.—Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce, appeared before the Seal Beach city council at the regular meeting Thursday night, asking that the city join with other cities of the county with a float in the Tournament of Lights parade.

The entry of the city in the pageant was favorably discussed and was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

A large seal has been suggested as the most representative design for a float. Welch also suggested that the city enter with the county of Orange in the advertising campaign being conducted in two Los Angeles newspapers.

Robert C. McMinn, one of the three contractors awarded the contract, for installing the plumbing in the new public comfort station, announced the completion of the work.

A check for $250.40, which is 75 per cent of the original contract price and extra work done, was ordered drawn to the three plumbing contractors, C. N. Marshall, who was given the contract for the construction of the building, was given checks totaling $223.45, 75 per cent of the contract price. The rest room is now complete with the exception of one coat of outside stucco, the interior painting and the wiring.

Applications for licenses to operate chip games in the city were received from F. E. Myer, of Santa Monica, and from Julius Hammer, of Seal Beach. The applications, accompanied by a $300 fee for a year's license were referred to the council for action.

Hammer's game will be located in a room to be built in the corner of the building now occupied by Walker's Nite club. The one to be operated by Myer will be located in the Kobornick building at 119 Main street.

Mr. Chenoweth of the Byron-Jackson Pump company, appeared before the council to present a quotation on the repairs to one of the main sewer pumps. It was stated by Sewer Superintendent C. L. ## BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

The Oppermanns, by Lion Feuchtwanger, published by the Viking Press.

"The Oppermanns" is a novel in which the author presents the fate of a family of Jews in Germany. They are wealthy Jews, owning a comfortable living from the furniture business founded by Immanuel Opperman. Martin Opperman, one of the three sons of the founder, manages the factory. Edgar, another of the three brothers, is head of a clinic in Berlin, a man with an excellent professional reputation. He has perfected a treatment for certain throat affections. Gustav is another brother, an intellectual, rather a liberal. He writes, he patronizes the arts. In the family there are others—the wives of Martin and Edgar, the son of Martin and the daughter of Edgar, and the son of the Opperman sister. There are many other characters in the book. Their stories and their experiences serve to portray to us a most complete picture of what is happening and has happened in Germany.

In reading "The Testament of Youth" by Vera Brittain, one had the feeling that one had traversed the entire gamut of experiences growing out of the war. All the important and tragic emotional reactions which were experienced by those who lived through the war close to its tragedy are portrayed in that book.

"The Oppermanns" does exactly that same service for us, for it presents a broad panorama picture of events in Germany as they have affected the Jews.

In the beginning of the story we see the Oppermann family together, in a position to celebrate together the time-honored feast of their race, each doing a constructive piece of work, living comfortably, enjoying life in an intellectual fashion. At the end we see them all scattered and sorrowed. We are made aware of the viewpoint of those who try to remain in Germany by renouncing their faith, by submitting to atrocious indignities. We are brought in contact with the existence philosophy of the younger generation of Jews who have concluded that it is wiser to live for an idea than to die for it. It is also more beneficial to the idea one of them pointed out to Gustav Oppermann.

The book is a well written and fascinating novel by one of the foremost novelists of the day. The fact that it might be classified as propaganda, one ought to read it as a step toward an awareness of what is happening in the world today does not detract from its merit as a novel of fine literary quality.

Technics and Civilization, by Lewis Mumford, published by Harcourt, Brace and Company.

"Technics and Civilization" is history and criticism. It is loaded with import for students of current economic and social problems. The author has neglected to aspect of social life, art, science, philosophy, customs and manners in presenting the state of civilization today clearly before us and, having done that thoroughly, he treats of the reaction to the machine. The reaction to the machine has two forms, he says, "the practical forward way involves the rebuilding of the individual personality and the collective group, and the re-orientation of all forms of thought and social activity toward life: this . . . reaction promises to transform the nature and function of our mechanical environment and to lay wider and firmer and safer foundations for human society at large. . . . It would be a gross mistake to seek wholly within the field of technics for an answer to all the problems that have been raised by technics. For the instrument only in part determines the character of the symphony or the response of the audience; the composer and the musicians and the audience have also to be considered."

This book is well worth reading thoroughly but those who feel themselves pressed for time would do well to pass rather quickly over the first part, the history. Most of us can learn from Mumford's history of the growth of technics but just because he is so able in

COMEDY OPENS FIELDS FARCE
TOMORROW AT
WALKER STATE ON THURSDAY

The comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey, aided by Theima Todd, Dorothy Lee and Ruth Eting, comes to Walker's State theater tomorrow for a three day run in "Hips, Hips, Hooray."

It is the story of a pair of peddlers of flavored lipsticks who meet the proprietors of a big cosmetic corporation and manage to work into the firm when some money disappears and evidence points to them as being guilty of the theft. Rather than argue the matter they flee and take part in a cross country auto race. The film has many lavish settings and musical comedy interludes.

Paired with this comedy is a drama which unfolds the operation of kidnappers and the processes of the representatives of the law in bringing them to justice. It is titled "The Mad Game" and brings Spencer Tracy in the leading role. He plays the part of a gangster who is double-crossed and sent to federal prison, of his reformation and his assistance to officers in helping solve the mystery of the kidnapping of the daughter of the judge who committed him to prison.

A cartoon in color, "Honeymoon Hotel," completes the program.

WARNER BAXTER IN
"AS HUSBANDS GO"
COMING TO STATE

Said by Manager Victor Walker to be one of the outstanding entertainment hits of the year, "As Husbands Go," featuring Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson, Catherine Doucet and Warner Oland, comes to the screen of Walker's State theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

It tells the story of the wife of a successful Iowa banker who becomes infatuated with a young Englishman while in Paris and of her decision to tell her husband she wants a divorce, which she finds herself unable to do because of his devotion and kindness. He learns of the situation when the young Englishman comes to visit in their home and tactfully proves himself master of the situation in a clever way.

The other feature on the double program is "The Big Shakedown," the story of racketeering applied to the cut-rate drug business. Charles Farrell and Bette Davis have the leading roles, supported by a cast including Ricardo Cortez, Allen Jenkins and Glenda Farrell.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, July 7.—David Gardner Jr. and Bud Anderson have returned from a motor vacation trip to Zion National park. Alvin Friend, Robert Tanner and Wilbert Ely have joined the CCC camp at March field.

Harry Lelton won a cash prize Thursday for the biggest catch on a deep sea fishing trip when he landed a fish weighing 15-1-2 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murdy and children are at Bishop to spend a 10-day vacation.

Like a musing fly,
Through his great haunches
Are three cottages high.

He will squeak in the night
Like a foraging mouse,
And tremble with fright

He will affront the moon
With antics of folly,
And next day at noon
Sham green melancholy.

And I say to the woman
Who shares my cottage,
"That tree's almost human
In its whimsical dotage."

NEW WILLIAM ANN HARDING
AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

As a dare-devil in war, and a daring lover, William Powell is starred in "The Key," a thrilling dramatic production which plays for the last times at the West Coast theater tomorrow, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The play is set in Dublin during the last decade when Irish patriots had aroused the country to flaming revolt.

William Powell has the role of an English officer, a reckless, dare-devil fighter, and gay dog. He has an affair with Norah, who later married one of his fellow officers, played by Colin Clive. The unusual outcome of this triangular love affair is revealed in a smacking and surprising climax.

Hobart Cavanaugh, as the gay captain's dog robber, supplies the comedy element. Halliwell Hobbes and Donald Crisp have important roles.

Short subjects on the bill include the latest Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey Steam Roller," a comedy, "Knife of the Party," an interesting journey, "Cannibal Islands," and World News events.

Louis Bromfield's romance of the American small town, "The Life of Vergie Winters," picturing the seething intimacy of the small town, will show for four days at the Broadway theater starting tomorrow.

The story is one of a small town milliner, and her romance with the community's "favorite son." Ann Harding stars in the title role as the milliner, and John Boles is the male lead.

Helen Vinson plays the widely member of the love triangle, and the various small town characters are portrayed by an exceptional large and brilliant cast, including among others, Betty Furness, Frank Albertson and Molly O'Day.

TWO FEATURES
SCREEN MONDAY

Two feature pictures will show at the West Coast theater for four days starting Monday, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The first is "Let's Talk It Over," in which Chester Morris is starred in the role of a cocky sailor whose unadmitted "brass" leads him to believe himself the intimate friend of a beautiful heiress and her society set. Mae Clark plays the part of the heiress and Frank Craven is her uncle. Included in the cast are Andy Devine, John Warburton, Irene Ware, Russ Brown and others.

"Let's Talk It Over" is filled with humor, has remarkably sustained characterizations, high interest and fast action and has a powerfully dramatic climax, Fountain said.

The second feature on the bill is "Most Precious Thing in Life," the screen adaptation of the popular magazine story published last year under the title "Biddy" in McCall's magazine. At that time it was pronounced one of the best stories of the year.

"Most Precious Thing in Life" deals with the story of a woman who finds herself in the service of her own son, a boy who has been reared by his wealthy, socially elite father and ignorant of the existence of his real mother.

A cartoon and World News events complete the program.

"The Virginian," in which Victor Jory will return to the playhouse on Tuesday, July 17. This will be the first of a succession of revivals of plays that have made history scheduled for the summer, each to run for a week.
